

EXTREME views on marriage and divorce, like those of Judge Lindsey naturally provoke opposition. But views that would once have been nearly as shocking are now commonplace. For instance: In a small gathering of people belonging to what the British would call the "upper middle class," all over fifty; all happily married, with no thought of divorce, most of them conservatives and none of them radicals, the talk turned on divorce, and every one declared for a law granting divorce by mutual consent, for the asking, without "grounds," provided the interests of children were not jeopardized and property questions were arranged. Doubtless the same result would follow, by asking the question, in a thousand similar groups. Twenty years ago such views would have been radical, and fifty years ago unthinkable.

OAKLAND once more reports over a month without an automobile fatality. This time the record announced was 42 days. The Oakland Safety Council has more than vindicated its existence.

But what would we say of a city that boasted that it had gone 42 whole days without a single death from small pox or rabies, or without a single person being struck by lightning. A city in which that would be a good record would be shunned as too dangerous to live in. But these traffic fatalities are like the losses of war. We have become so accustomed to their toll of death that it does not shock us as it should. If, instead of killing people, the automobile destroyed property, or ran off with money, there would be no rest until we had reduced its losses to a minimum.

THE congestion of the streets will get no less. There are approximately twenty million automobiles in America, which is about seven-eighths of all there are in the world. At the present rate of production of our factories, the saturation point will be reached when we have thirty millions, or fifty per cent more than we have now. That is, when we have thirty million machines in service, the factories, at their present rate, will turn out just as many cars each year as wear out that year, and the number will remain stationary. Until then, they have to sell at least a million new cars a year in excess of replacements, or else cut down production. If they increase production, they must seek markets abroad for the surplus.

AMERICAN industry as a whole will be faced with this problem of finding more foreign markets. Much of it is already loaded with a plant made to meet war-time demands, which, run to full capacity, is capable of producing more than the present market will absorb. All our industry is so organized that it tends to reach that size. Its profits have to be invested somewhere, and the natural thing is to re-invest much of the increase in the expansion of its own plant, to equip it for still more production up to the limit of the market, this pays. Beyond that, it means curtailment, wasted plant, or foreign markets. Or, if the profits are all paid out in dividends, the stockholders reinvest them in this or other business, and so produce the same result, or else invest them abroad, as they are beginning to do now, toward this country from the yearly interest or dividends on these investments.

ONE of the interesting possibilities is that this may produce a reversal of policy, on the part of at least one faction of our business men, on the tariff. Hitherto, they have been nearly unanimous for the highest possible protection for the American market, and they were not greatly concerned about the effect of this domestic monopoly on the foreign market. Now at least a part of them will be able to survive at home on a lower tariff even on their own products, and they will be eager for a lower tariff on other products, to increase imports, without which, as they are beginning to learn, large exports, especially by an already creditor nation, are not permanently possible.

What will be the political consequences if this change of interests, and therefore of opinions, come about in the business community, or even in half of it? The Republican party has been known, both in praise and in blame, as the party of the tariff. Because the business men were nearly unanimous for high tariff, the position of the party which represents them followed as a matter of course. But what will happen when the business interests cease to be unanimous, and a large party of them begin to favor lower tariffs and larger imports?

Sheffield Resigns From Mexico Post

AMBASSADOR SAYS PLANS INDEFINITE

Diplomat Declines to Give Any Definite Reason for Retiring From Position DENIES CAUSE RUMORS Matter Taken Under Consideration by Coolidge, But Acceptance Certain

(By United Press)
RAPID CITY, S. D., July 8.—James R. Sheffield, ambassador to Mexico, today presented his resignation to President Coolidge. Sheffield came to Rapid City especially for the purpose of presenting his resignation and it was given to the president and made public today following conferences between the chief executive and the ambassador yesterday.

In making the announcement of his desire to retire from the important diplomatic post, Sheffield declined to ascribe any definite reason, but said it was not because of ill health, loyalty, lack of support or any of the various rumors which have been previously rumored.

Will Be Accepted
The resignation was taken under consideration by President Coolidge, but the United Press is definitely informed that it will be accepted. Announcement if its acceptance will be made, it is learned, as soon as Sheffield's successor is selected.

Sheffield met newspapermen in conference at the executive offices after riding in from the state game lodge with the president. There, sitting beside Everett Sanders, the president's secretary, Sheffield made known his intention of retiring.

"My plans are very indefinite," he said. "I have handed my resignation to the president to take effect at his convenience. I will do whatever he desires."

Sheffield said that when he called upon Mr. Coolidge and Paul Smith's last summer, he talked over with the president the question of being relieved. He called Mr. Coolidge's attention to the fact that he had been working hard 18 hours a day there on plateau land and that he thought he ought to get to a lower level.

The president wanted him to remain and he did so, under condition that his term of service might terminate this spring.

JOHNSON QUILTS AS A. L. CHIEF ON NOVEMBER 1

'I'm Going to Retire. Not Resign,' Czar Tells Newspapermen

(By United Press)
NEW YORK, July 8.—Ban Johnson today resigned as president of the American league effective November 1.

The resignation was announced by Colonel Jacob Ruppert after an all day conference of American league magnates here.

Johnson will receive no compensation after November, it was said.

The only hitch in turning over his affairs to a successor is the length of time it will require him "to put his house in order."

Johnson explained his status today during the special meeting of American league club owners, in session at the Hotel Belmont, to deal with his retirement.

"I have been thinking for some time of retiring," Johnson told newspapermen. "Get that—retiring, not resigning."

"I don't intend to do it until I can get my house in order."

Asked what he meant, Johnson explained that he had records as far back as 1893, when the Western association became the American league, that required straightening out before he stepped down from the office he has occupied for more than a quarter century.

"How long do you expect it to take you?" Johnson was asked.

"I thought I would have it finished up this time but I haven't been able to finish up."

FORD ASKS FORGIVENESS OF HEBREWS

All Charges Against Jews, As Printed in His Publications, Are Retracted ATTACKS MUST CEASE

Motor Magnate Says He Is Mortified at Revelation Of Nature of Articles

(By United Press)
NEW YORK, July 8.—The long and bitter fight between publications sponsored by Henry Ford on the one hand and the Jewish of the world on the other, came to an abrupt and unexpected end today.

A signed statement by Ford, made public here, withdrew all charges against Jews made in his publications, expressed regret that they had been published and explained the motor magnate had been unaware of what was being printed in his publications.

The statement came like a treaty of peace. It was followed closely by an announcement, in Detroit, by William H. Gallagher, attorney for Aaron Sapiro, that the latter's $1,000,000 libel suit against Ford probably would be withdrawn.

Louis Marshall, president of the American Jewish commission, who received the original signed copy

Ford Suit Will Be Settled Out Of Court

DETROIT, July 8.—The terms of the settlement of Aaron Sapiro's $1,000,000 libel suit against Henry Ford will be announced within a week, William H. Gallagher, Sapiro's attorney, said today.

The suit will be settled out of court as a result of Ford's disavowal of the anti-Jewish policy of his magazine, the Dearborn Independent.

Ford has ordered the Dearborn Independent to cease publication of all articles reflecting on the Jewish people, he said in an announcement made public through Arthur Brisbane. Ford was quoted as saying he was "mortified" to discover the actual nature of the articles.

In addition to ordering his magazine, the Independent, to cease attacks on Jews, Ford will withdraw from circulation certain articles, regarded as objectionable, which have been issued in pamphlet form under the title "The International Jew," Brisbane said.

Brisbane said Ford had made a signed statement explaining his new stand on the Jewish question, one copy of which had been given to Louis Marshall, New York attorney, and another to Brisbane.

The Ford statement, as made public by Brisbane, said in part: "To my great regret I have learned that Jews generally, and particularly those in this country, not only resent these publications as promoting anti-semitism, but regard me as their enemy."

CECIL B. DEMILLE CHARGED WITH USURY IN JULIAN CASE

Building Goes Up But Nest Is Undisturbed Famous Producer Named In Complaint Issued by City Prosecutor

(By United Press)
LOS ANGELES, July 8.—Cecil B. DeMille, motion picture producer, famous as the director of "The King of Kings," was charged with usury in a complaint issued here today in connection with the Julian Petroleum corporation crash.

The complaint was signed by Dr. E. J. Lickley, city prosecutor, and charged that the movie magnate received a $12,000 bonus on a $60,000 loan to the oil company, which was wrecked several months ago.

DeMille's name was among a list of 100 individual money lenders, turned over by the district attorney to the city prosecutor when it was decided that indictments against them could not be obtained from the grand jury.

Accept Lewis Plan
With a plan proposed by S. C. Lewis, former head of the Julian Petroleum corporation, to rehabilitate the wrecked oil company, accepted by the stockholders, a reconstruction program was under way here today.

Attributing the failure of the oil company to money lenders who forced the corporation to pay exorbitant interest rates on loans, Lewis outlined a program which briefly calls for:

1.—Issuance of first mortgage bonds, bearing six and one-half per cent interest, to run over a period of 10 years.

2.—Extension of leniency to money lenders who return the amount of usurious interest taken from the company or severe prosecution of those who fail to return this interest.

3.—To wipe out more than 4,000,000 shares of over-issued by repaying purchase price to holders out of a fund to be created with usury returns.

Resolution is Submitted
The plan was proposed by Lewis at a mass meeting of the stockholders last night, at which time he submitted a resolution combining the various proposals which was accepted by the stockholders.

The program was based principally upon a letter received by the Julian receivers from the Pacific Southwest Trust and Savings bank and the First National bank offering to substitute a 10-year bond issue, at 6 1/2 per cent interest, in place of the mortgages and loans made to the Julian company.

The pressure of a $5,700,000 loan would be relieved through this plan, Lewis declared, and stated that he was negotiating for a similar arrangement with the Anglo London-Paris bank, holding a $2,000,000 mortgage against the company property.

The county grand jury will resume session today and new angles to the crash of the oil company are expected to result in more indictments.

FURTHER PROBE OF SHOOTING IS URGED

MONROVIA, Calif., July 8.—M. K. Nuno, Japanese ranch caretaker, and wife are being held in the Los Angeles county jail today in connection with the shooting of Victor Sanchez, 17, Tuesday, on an alleged pig poaching expedition.

A coroner's jury here late yesterday was unable to determine whether or not the shooting was justifiable and recommended further investigation by the district attorney's office.

Deputy Sheriff C. D. Allen, testifying at the inquest, introduced the probability of the bullet coming from a stone before striking the youth and causing his death. The steel-jacketed shell, flat on one side, was shown to the coroner's jury.

The Japanese previously was reported to have said that "he aimed to scare the Sanchez boy and his companion and not to hit them."

It is believed that the heavy timber was dislodged from its insecure resting place by the heaviest of several temblors.

Maricopa Man Is Victim Of Quake

BAKERSFIELD, Calif., July 8.—Indications today pointed to the death of Richard Kirk, 37, at Maricopa, yesterday, as the victim of an earthquake distinctly felt here.

Kirk, engaged in welling a cable under Lakeview No. 2 well rig, was instantly killed when a beam from the derrick crashed downward, striking him on the head.

It is believed that the heavy timber was dislodged from its insecure resting place by the heaviest of several temblors.

Rockefeller Celebrates His Birthday

(By United Press)
NEW YORK, July 8.—John D. Rockefeller, unwearied over his definite elimination by Henry Ford as the world's richest man, today celebrated his 88th birthday at this home in Pocantico Hills and contemplated with composure the dozen years stretching between him and his goal of becoming a centenarian.

A large cake will decorate the Rockefeller table at dinner tonight, but aside from that no ceremony of special activities marked the day. It was assumed, however, that the usual supply of extra times had been laid up against a "raid" by neighbors' children.

THOUSANDS OF TOURISTS VISIT 'LAKE OF FIRE'

Earthquakes Rock Vicinity Of Eruption, But No Danger Seen

(By United Press)
HILO, ISLAND OF HAWAII, July 8.—Earthquakes continue to rock the vicinity of Kilauea volcano (Lake of Fire) early today as the spouting jets of red lava increased the pool of liquid metal on the floor of Halemaumau pit.

The famous spectacle apparently is taking a normal course and except for avalanches on the surrounding slopes, there has been no actual danger.

Thousands of visitors are arriving from other islands and are braving the sulphurous fumes to obtain a close view of the fiery lake more than 1000 feet down in the pit.

Despite assurances of scientists that the slope country is not presently menaced, older native Hawaiians attach a special significance to the predictions of an American astrologer, known in the Orient as "Paul the Mystic," who has predicted a volcanic catastrophe for July 9.

Early in April "Paul" appeared in a local theater and predicted the disturbance. He said that preliminary disturbances would begin July 5 to 7.

Because the eruption began shortly after midnight Thursday, natives believe he had advance and accurate information.

Glowing lava now covers an area of more than 100 acres and the glow on the sky is visible far out at sea.

Mystery Enters Drummond Case

LOS ANGELES, July 8.—The whereabouts of Mrs. Clara Drummond, 21-year-old "sleeping beauty" of Fresno, gave the strange case the element of a mystery today.

According to Mrs. Hattie Cunningham, proprietor of the private hospital in which the young woman was being treated by Dr. W. J. Peacock, chiropractor, Mrs. Drummond was removed to an unknown hiding place by her husband and the doctor before dawn today.

Both Mrs. Cunningham and Dr. Peacock were cited in complaints issued yesterday in connection with the operation of the hospital without a license.

Upon receipt of information that the girl had been spirited away, city health authorities began a search for her.

FILLING STATIONS IN CHICAGO CLOSE

CHICAGO, July 8.—All gasoline filling stations in Chicago were ordered closed today by the gasoline companies following a strike called by employees of the gasoline stations operated by the Sinclair Oil company.

It will mean that gasoline may be purchased only from the refineries and outlying stations of which the employees are not in the union.

The general closing order came following weeks of negotiating between the oil companies and members of the Station Attendants' union over new wage agreements.

"We are closing the filling stations as rapidly as we can," an official today said.

FAILURE OF NAVY PARLEY IS IMMINENT

Bridgeman Asserts Britain Unable to Change Policy With Regard to Cruisers

NO AGREEMENT SEEN

Washington Surprised That England Shows No Signs Of Wanting Compromise

(By United Press)
GENEVA, July 8.—Prospects for complete success of President Coolidge's naval limitations conference were materially lessened today when W. C. Bridgeman, first lord of the British admiralty, told newspapermen England could not change her policy with regard to cruisers.

Bridgeman placed the entire blame for the present cruiser deadlock on the United States, whose insistence, he said, at the Washington conference on the 10,000-ton type of cruiser compelled Britain against her own needs and wishes to construct this maximum type.

Britain has been demanding cruiser tonnage in excess of the amount approved by the United States.

Previously to Bridgeman's statement, it had appeared the conference would survive its crisis.

The executive committee, composed of Baron Saito, Bridgeman and Hugh Gibson, had held a meeting.

U. S. WILL BLAME BRITAIN IF PARLEY FAILS

WASHINGTON, July 8.—Officials here today faced the possibility of failure of the Coolidge naval conference at Geneva.

The administration definitely decided not to agree under any conditions to a total cruiser tonnage of more than 350,000 or 400,000 as a maximum for Great Britain and the United States.

Much to the surprise of Washington, the British show no signs of receding from their demands for 71 cruisers, totaling from 500,000 to 600,000 tons. The present British "modern" cruisers, including ships building, is 308,000, compared with 95,000 tons for the United States.

The administration is prepared, if Britain forces a break, to adopt the following measures:

Will Blame Britain
1.—Put the full blame for the conference failure on the British.

2.—Start an auxiliary naval building program to approximate British strength.

Officials are mystified by the British demands. Here are some of their unanswered questions:

How can the British taxpayers afford to double the present British cruiser strength?

Why did the London government accept an invitation to a naval limitation conference if it meant to insist on an increase instead of limitation?

What international political considerations, if any, are behind the British stand?

If war between Great Britain and the United States is unthinkable as the respective diplomats have declared, why should the British admiralty oppose an actual cruiser equality between the two navies?

Doesn't Want Armament Race
President Coolidge is loath to enter an armament race. Both naval officers and congressmen say flatly they will insist on a huge naval program if Britain refuses to sign a "reasonable" treaty.

Even if Great Britain accepted the American proposal for a 300,000-ton cruiser limitation, this country would have to triple its present strength. This in itself is a large concession to the British, it is said.

If Britain at Geneva, followed the course of the United States at the Washington conference, she would agree to scrap some of her modern cruisers rather than insist on multiplying them. It is added.

Despite the growing pessimism here, there is still some hope that Japanese support of the American plan and the opposition of British taxpayers to the British expansion plan will force the London government to substitute a conciliatory policy for the present allegedly die hard admiralty tactics.

Permit For Rail Merger Is Sought

WASHINGTON, July 8.—The so-called Hill interests today filed with the interstate commerce commission an application for permission to unite the Great Northern, the Northern Pacific and the Spokane, Portland and Seattle railroads into a single network of 15,000 miles long under the name of Great Northern Pacific system.

FORD RETRACTS ALL CHARGES AGAINST JEWRY

"As a result of this survey, I confess that I am deeply mortified that this journal, which is intended to be constructive and not destructive, has been made the medium for resurrecting exploded fictions for giving currency to the so-called protocols of the wise men of Zion which have been demonstrated, as I learn, to be gross forgeries, and for contending that the Jews have been engaged in a conspiracy to control the capital and the industries of the world, besides laying at their door many offenses against decency, public order and good morals.

"Had I appreciated even the general nature, to say nothing of the details of these utterances, I would have forbidden their circulation without a moment's hesitation.

"I am greatly shocked that I have been greatly shocked as a result of my study and examination of the files of the Dearborn Independent and of the pamphlets entitled 'The International Jew.'

"I deem it to be my duty as an honorable man to make amends for the wrong done the Jews as fellow men and brothers, by asking their forgiveness for the harm I have unintentionally committed, by retracting so far as lies within my power the offensive charges laid at their door by these publications and by giving them the unqualified assurance that henceforth they may look to me for friendship and good will."

EDITOR OF INDEPENDENT EXPRESSES SURPRISE

DETROIT, Mich., July 8.—William J. Cameron, editor of the Dearborn Independent and spokesman for Henry Ford, expressed great surprise today when advised of the New York report that the automobile manufacturer had repudiated his attacks on the Jewish people and had ordered suspension of publication of articles reflecting on the Jews.

"It is all news to me," Cameron said, "and I cannot believe it is true.

"This is the first time I have heard of any such intention on the part of Mr. Ford and I most certainly will get in touch with him and find out what is behind it."

Cameron said he thought he would be the first person notified if Ford planned such a change in the policy of the Independent.

Stewart Hanley, leading local attorney for Ford, said he knew nothing about the possibility that Ford's repudiation was preliminary to settling the $1,000,000 libel suit which Aaron Sapiro brought against Ford as a result of the Independent's attacks on Sapiro's agricultural activities.

Clifford B. Longley, also of the Ford counsel, said "as far as I know the suit has not been settled."

The suit of Sapiro, Jewish attorney of Chicago, against Ford, came to trial last March and, on motion of Ford attorneys, a mistrial was declared after an alleged interview with one of the jurors appeared in a local paper. Last week a new trial of the suit was set tentatively for September 12.

TELLS HOW STATEMENT CAME TO BE DRAWN UP

SARANACA LAKE, N. Y., July 8.—Louis Marshall, president of the American Jewish committee, today told the United Press the story of how Henry Ford's statement withdrawing charges against Jews, made in his magazine, the Dearborn Independent, came to be drawn up, signed by the motor magnate and made public.

Marshall is on a vacation at his cottage at Knollwood club on lower Saranac lake.

The statement grew out of Ford's desire to make amends for what he had decided were unjustified attacks, Marshall said, and resulted from conferences between Marshall and representatives of Ford.

NEW BUILDING TO RISE IN ANAHEIM

ANAHEIM, July 8.—Workmen are today completing the task of demolishing an unpretentious one-story frame building which, for the past 10 or 12 years, has stood in the rear of the F. A. Youngbluth clothing store, serving to house the tailoring department of that firm.

Since progress and the rising of more modern business blocks have thrust this relic of an earlier day into the background, it has suffered the ignominy of having an alley for a street. Until the last however, it held its head up proudly with a large, also antiquated sign, "F. Youngbluth Merchant Tailor," displayed across above its entrance.

This relic of the early business life of Anaheim, which is said to have seen active service for nearly half a century, is ordered razed to give place to a modern $7500 brick addition which Mr. Youngbluth plans to add to his main store building.

Plans have been drawn for the new structure by M. Eugene Durfee, Anaheim and Los Angeles architect, and Wilson and Bever, Anaheim general contractors, have been awarded the contract for construction.

The addition planned is to be one and a half stories in height and is to be 28 feet by 48 feet in dimensions, extending the present building clear back to the alley line.

2 Film Stars To Sue For Divorces

HOLLYWOOD, July 8.—Two more shattered film colony romances will be recorded in the near future in the divorce courts, it was learned here today.

Constance Talmadge and Anita Stewart will seek severance of their marital relations, the time and place as yet being undecided, they both admitted.

Miss Talmadge has been separated from her husband, Capt. Alastair Mackintosh, formerly of the British army, for many months and the announcement that she would sue for divorce was not unexpected here.

Miss Stewart will seek a divorce from Rudy Cameron Brennen, of Washington, D. C., on the grounds of incompatibility. They have been married eight years.

Miss Talmadge probably will base her suit on desertion and neither case is expected to be of a sensational nature.

Drew Maintains His Grip On Life

SAN FRANCISCO, July 8.—Although weakened by six weeks' suffering from arthritis, John Drew, prominent stage actor, maintained his hold on life today. Nurses attending the stage player said his condition had not changed during the night.

Trains Now Run Between Berlin And Bremerhaven

BERLIN, July 7.—For the first time since the World war, the special trains which used to bring passengers arriving at Bremerhaven from New York directly to Berlin, have been put in operation again.

Heretofore it was impossible to book straight through from Bremerhaven to the German capital. The enforced stop of several hours at Bremen proved desirable only for travelers coming to Germany for the first time who wished to see the historic sights of the quaint Hanseatic city. Most travelers seemed anxious to get to Berlin as quickly as possible.

The schedules from Bremerhaven to Bremen are now so arranged that the through cars are hitched to a regular Berlin express without loss of time.

Special meeting of Santa Ana Lodge No. 241, F. & A. M., Friday, July 8th, at 7 p. m., to confer the First Degree of Masonry. Visiting Brethren cordially invited. Refreshments.

Comment On Face Decoration Held Insult By Court

PARIS, July 8.—"Badly painted," when addressed to a woman, is a reproach punishable by law—in the provincial courts at least.

Since a woman powders, rouges and otherwise decorates her face to increase what beauty she has, to belittle her talent is a reflection on her good looks, said one judge.

"Badly painted," therefore, was held to be an insult. Damages were fixed at five francs.

Bridge Party Offers Opportunity for Gift Shower

Friendly interest in the recent marriage of Miss Virginia Metzgar and Douglas Paterson, was evinced in happy fashion yesterday afternoon when Mrs. F. C. Arnim (Gladys Burns) entertained for the bride, at her pleasant home, 1906 North Broadway.

The rosy future of the young couple was suggested by the delightful manner in which Mrs. Arnim had her home decorated, for baskets of sunset-tinted dahlias were used everywhere, blending with the rainbow tints of the pretty summer gowns worn by the guests. Bridge score cards to harmonize, were distributed by the hostess, who had the aid of her sister-in-law, Mrs. Carl Burns, and of Mrs. Alfred Ralph, throughout the afternoon.

The card session which followed, yielded victory to Mrs. Carl Burns whose reward was a rose bowl in cool green tones. Mrs. James Metzgar, scoring high, received a graceful jar filled with sweets and Mrs. Milburn Harvey was consoled with a box of rosebud bath salts.

In re-arranging the card tables for serving refreshments, the hostess used her loveliest linens, mounds of pink sweet peas and dainty molded salad was followed by a sweets course whose foci were in wedding bell form, and whose individual cakes were each topped with a wedding bell.

The climax of the afternoon came when Master Bobby Arnim, small son of the home, trudged in struggling manfully with a pink covered box larger than he was. He finally succeeded in reaching Mrs. Paterson's side, and she had the pleasure of examining an array of beautiful linens, silver, crystal and many other articles of use and charm which had been selected for her by her assembled friends.

The marriage of Miss Metzgar and Mr. Paterson was a very quiet event of mid-June, in Pasadena. For the present the young people are at the Metzgar home, 407 West Santa Clara avenue, where they will remain until they decide upon a location.

The friends asked by Mrs. Arnim to compliment the bride, included in addition to Mrs. J. C. Metzgar and Mrs. Frank Paterson, mothers of the newly wedded pair; Mrs. Elmer Barr Burns and Mrs. Emma French, mother and grandmother of the hostess; Mrs. H. Clement Dawes, Miss Roberta Dawes, Mrs. Carl Burns, Mrs. Alfred Ralph, Miss Mavis Diehl, Mrs. Clarence McClintock, Mrs. John I. Clark, Mrs. Leonard Walter Daigle (Elsie Fluor), Miss Gertrude Montgomery, Miss Louise Montgomery, Mrs. Waldo Wehrly, Mrs. Jack Fisher (Frances Baker), Miss Lydia Fisher, Mrs. Joseph

Mission Inn Nuptials Prove of Interest To Local Friends

A wedding of recent date which will be of warm interest to hosts of Santa Ana friends of the bride, was that of Mrs. Blanche Ann Scott of Pasadena, and Madison W. Everman, chief petty officer in the United States navy, which took place in Riverside, Wednesday, June 29.

Mr. Everman is stationed on the U. S. S. Oklahoma, which reached San Diego on June 27. Mrs. Harriett Worden of Pasadena, accompanied Mrs. Scott and Mr. Everman to Riverside where she acted as honor matron at the wedding ceremony conducted at high noon by the Rev. Mr. Gillis, pastor of the Riverside First Methodist Episcopal church.

Mrs. Scott's statuesque beauty found its perfect complement in an ensemble costume of white georgette worn with a close-fitting little white hat. Her flowers were a cluster of white gardenias. Mrs. Worden was gowned in gray georgette flowered with blue, with small blue hat to harmonize.

The ceremony took place in the St. Cecelia chapel of Glenwood Mission Inn, where the bride party had luncheon afterwards. Mr. and Mrs. Everman will be at home for the present at 123 North Orange Grove avenue, Pasadena, their future plans remaining unformulated because of the former's connection with the navy. When the U. S. S. Oklahoma returns to the Atlantic seaboard with the midshipmen from Annapolis Naval academy aboard, they will make their home in Philadelphia for eighteen months or until the battleship returns to the Pacific division of the fleet, stationed at San Pedro.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

A Card Party will be staged tonight at the Santa Ana Country clubhouse, where bridge enthusiasts will assemble in time to begin playing promptly at 8:15 o'clock. It has been whispered that the prizes awaiting the fortunate ones in scoring, are even more attractive than usual. Punch will be served, and in every detail the evening promises to be filled with interest, especially since the sudden warm weather makes the cool and airy clubhouse, a delightful retreat.

Rowley of Orange, Mrs. George Ball, Mrs. Milburn Harvey, Mrs. Mrs. Harold Nelson, Mrs. Chauncey Moore (Marjorie Warner), Mrs. David Carmichael and Mrs. Arthur Lyon.

Forest Home Dwellers Settle Down After Gay Holiday

With the great national holiday for 1927 past, and its celebration successfully accomplished, Forest Home, that mountain resort so beloved of Santa Anans, has resumed its wonted placidity and settled down to the usual summer pleasures of riding, hiking, dancing and entertaining guests, so indelibly associated with vacation season at "Santa Ana in the Mountains."

The week-end holiday of the Fourth, was a gala time for cottagers, nearly all of whom entertained guests, while the Inn's capacity was taxed. The usual Sunday evening program was distinguished by the fact that Robert Bradford, Santa Ana's popular young baritone, sang several numbers. He and the W. C. Vieiras were house-guests of Dr. and Mrs. John McAuley at the Valley of the Falls. Everyone was delighted with his voice, and Santa Anans were proud of their young fellow-townsmen. His graciousness in singing a number of songs added to the effect.

Among other local people who were in their cabins for the holiday, were Mr. and Mrs. John E. Gowen, Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Chapman, Dr. and Mrs. J. E. Paul, Mrs. Harvey Trueblood who entertained friends from Long Beach; the J. H. Scotts, the John Cohrens, Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Decker, Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Knox, the Goodwins, and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Rowland, who had Mrs. Rowland's mother, Mrs. C. F. Crose, as their guest.

Hand-blocked linen in bright designs, give dash to sleeveless white tennis frocks or golf costumes.

POPULAR COLORS
Stone, pink, banana and the yellow greens and orchid shades all vie right now for first place as the most popular colors.

NEW TOUCHES
Fagotting is used increasingly on summer frocks. Lace edges, tiers and flounces and forms puff sleeves. Point d'esprit forms smart yokes on orandy dresses.

SLEEVELESS SWEATER
Dainty sleeveless sweaters, worn this spring under suits, are being replaced by sweaters with sleeves that have sleeveless sweater coats over them.

Santa Ana Tourists Reach Honolulu

Word has reached her friends, of the safe arrival in Honolulu of Miss Maurie Hamill who sailed for the Islands on the recent voyage of the City of Los Angeles. On the same boat was Miss Dorothy Garstang of this city. The two had a delightful voyage, and had the experience of reaching port on the same morning that great passenger ships from two other continents arrived, the President Pierce from the Orient and the S. S. Sonoma from the antipodes.

The S. S. City of Los Angeles, was escorted into the harbor by Hawaiian lads, diving for coins. The Royal Hawaiian band played the visitors ashore where streets were crowded with lei women and their fragrant wreaths of flowers, which are tokens of both greeting and farewell.

The Santa Ana visitors were extremely interested in the varied things offered for their entertainment, and expected to see among the first, the famous hedge of night-blooming cereus, at the height of its beauty at the time of their arrival. Special trips to Kilauea volcano, the Haleakala, the world's largest extinct crater, and to Waimea canyon were scheduled for the entertainment of the tourists, also the Fourth of July regatta to be held in the crescent harbor at the foot of Mauna Kea, the "white mountain."

Kiddy Review At Walker's Pleases

Billy Riley's Metropolitan Kiddy Review who finished last night a two days' engagement at the West Coast Walker theater was certainly a treat to the admirers of clever kiddies. This review has played several of the larger Los Angeles theaters successfully, and their appearance here was greeted with much applause. It is pretty hard to mention any one as the featured player as the company as a whole is composed of some very clever little singers and dancers. The music is snappy and the number goes over with great success.

SCOTS' MEMORIAL UNVEILED AT ARRAS

ARRAS, July 8.—The memorial of the Seaford Highlanders has been unveiled at Pampoux, near Arras. It will help to remind the French people of this part of the country of three Highland divisions—the 9th, the 15th and the 51st—which helped in the defense and deliverance of Arras from the Germans. The Seaford Highlanders were represented in each of these divisions, and every battalion of the regiment fought at one time or another within sight of the hillside above Pampoux, where the Celtic cross that forms the monument has been erected. This cross commemorates 842 officers and men of the regiment who fell in the great war.

Southern California Gardens

By RUSSELL S. ADKINSON

The real summer weather which has at last made its appearance hastens a lot of changes in the garden. A little added care is essential or serious results will follow.

The moisture that we have been able to maintain with a certain amount of water and cultivation readily disappears under weather conditions of past few days.

Therefore, to prolong the blooming season of some plants and prevent serious injury in general, we must water more frequently.

One great advantage of hot weather is its aid in pest control. The inroads of various plant enemies always greatly checked by higher temperatures. Mildews and rusts are also less prevalent with drying effect of summer heat. This is a great aid to the gardener.

Bulbs that have past their usefulness will hasten to the point where digging is necessary. This period will depend upon the bulb and the time of planting. Some have already reached it and are dug.

Dig With Leaves
Bulbs should be dug with their leaves on and placed in a shady spot to cure. The leaves will draw moisture from the bulb and hasten their ripening. After about two weeks the leaves should be removed and the bulbs left another two or three weeks. At this time the new bulbs should separate easily from the old ones.

When the curing and separating is over, store the bulbs in a dark cool place until time for replanting. They should not be stacked over five or six inches deep and must be so arranged that they have plenty of air circulation.

It is well to plan now for your fall plantings. The rough work can be started to advantage on any plot you may have in which the planting is going past. A deep spading and heavy fertilizing is in order for early plantings of winter sweet peas and bulbs.

For sweet peas a sunny location and one which is protected from strong winds.

If you have no fertilizer available, the spading alone is very beneficial. Farm fertilizer, alfalfa or bean straw, are three excellent materials to be used in this advance preparation.

Leaf mold is also very useful. The proper type is a well cured mold in which practically all leaves are thoroughly rotted. Unless care is exercised in choosing this type there is danger of getting pests in the soil.

The addition of sand or lime to extra heavy and sticky soils is advisable. Some of these soils are very fertile but are not productive because they are not well aired or are water-logged.

You will still profit by plantings of asters, zinnias, chrysanthemums and lace flowers. The fact that these are blooming in some gardens at present should not lead you to believe that it is too late to plant.

Shrubby and Trees
Any shrubby or trees or hedges you have in mind can readily be planted without ill effects. These are all carried by the nurseries in containers suitable for planting at any time. There may be a little wilting, but this disappears in two or three days and without showing that the plant has suffered.

There seems to be a great many people with the idea that lawns cannot be started through the summer months. Did you ever notice the number of lawns that are started each summer? They require more frequent waterings but really give you quicker results than those sown in winter.

You do not run the risk of a dry wind nor a heavy shower by summer plantings. These two things do more damage to new lawns than summer heat could ever do. You can control the dry effects of summer but there is no stopping rain or wind.

Any plantings now will necessarily require much more water than at any other time. But the added work will be repaid many times over in the results during the months when color is most appreciated.

STARTS FIVE DAYS SPEEDING SENTENCE

Vernon Mills, 23, 215 West Oak street, Bellflower, entered the county jail last night to start a five day jail term given him on a speeding charge.

He was arrested on June 26, by Officer Harry Aldrich, who charged him with speeding 50 miles an hour. Mills pleaded guilty to the charge in Justice Kenneth Morrison's court last week and was sentenced to jail.

Mills will be released Monday morning.

SLEEPER PLANS COLLECTION OF PERSONAL TAX

If you haven't paid the personal property tax on hat automobile of yours—

Jim Sleeper'll get it if you don't watch out!

The county assessor is playing the goblin role in a drive against owners of "unsecured" personal property upon which the tax has not been paid for the current year. The tax upon that class of property, it is said, was payable to the assessor at the time the assessment was made. July 1 was the last day of grace for such payments.

Assessor Sleeper announced today that he was proceeding to force payment upon unpaid personal property taxes by seizure and sale of such property wherever found. Any such automobile or other personal property, not secured by real estate, will be attached if it is careless enough to stray in the path of the assessor or his men.

Sleeper pointed out that it would be much cheaper for the owner to pay the tax than wait until the assessor caught him. He cited the example of one automobile owner who failed to pay. This owner's car was attached and he was forced to pay, in addition to the $17.50 tax, the sum of $32.50 as keeper's charges allowed by law.

Mrs. Dodge Denies Interest In Flyer

HOLLYWOOD, July 8.—Her interest in Lt. Charles L. Williams, who was killed in a plane crash at Walkik Beach, was anything but a "slight friendship," Mrs. Horace E. Dodge Jr., ill at her home here, today told newspapermen.

Her denial was coupled with the report of a possible reconciliation with her estranged husband, whose whereabouts are unknown but who is reported to be living in Hollywood also.

Mrs. Dodge is occupying the former home of Hugh Dillman and his wife, the widow of the late Horace Dodge sr., while the house next door, it is intimated, may be the residence of her estranged husband.

Caretakers have forbidden entry to all persons except friends.

MAN HELD HERE ON SUSPICION GIVEN RELEASE

Failure on the part of W. M. Robe, junk man, to identify a man arrested yesterday on suspicion of murder, in connection with the brutal slaying of Clayton Sharritts, junk peddler, in the Santa Ana river bed, near the Orange county hospital, on June 14, officers released the prisoner from jail today.

A man giving his name as Charles Zoller, 35, was arrested by Whittier police yesterday in a river bed. He was turned over to county officers as a suspect and brought to jail here last night.

Robe was sent for today to identify the man, but he declared that Zoller was not the "Cocky" for whom police officers have been searching for almost a month, and who was seen near the scene of the murder with a shotgun on the day Sharritts disappeared.

Zoller, like "Cocky," is a junk peddler and lived in a river bed. Sharritts was killed with a shotgun and his body buried in the sand, 30 feet from his shack. It was found by Robe buried face down.

10 MEN ESCAPE INJURY WHEN CARS COLLIDE

Ten men miraculously escaped serious injury or death yesterday afternoon, in a collision on the highway west of Westminster. Cars driven by R. H. Lyle, of Los Angeles, and Bartola Olivias, of 1005 North Flower street, were completely wrecked in the accident.

According to Lyle, he was proceeding east on the boulevard when the Olivias machine coming west, started to pass a truck, coming in the same direction. Lyle was unable to turn off the road because of the ditch.

Both the Lyle and the Olivias cars contained friends of the drivers who were returning from their places of employment.

Use Telephoto To Arrest Embezzler

NEW YORK, July 7.—Telephoto processes have not come into use in crime detection.

The Waco, Texas, police broadcast a telephoto picture of James Crowder, wanted in connection with a bank embezzlement. The police had reason to believe that Crowder had fled to Mexico and would attempt to reach New York by boat.

With the telephoto picture to guide them, detectives watched incoming boats from Mexico and took Crowder into custody as he came down the gangplank.

Our Neighbors

SAN DIEGO.—An increase of 15 1-2 per cent, the greatest ever recorded for any one year for San Diego county, is noted for the total assessed valuation of property for 1927, by George W. Moulton, county assessor. With the total assessed valuation of county property amounting to $119,005,139 for 1927, an actual increase of $15,544,759 is noted as the total assessed valuation for 1926 amounted only to $103,450,380. The increase for the city of San Diego alone amounted to $8,000,000, Moulton said. Assessed valuation of the larger cities in the county is as follows: San Diego, $51,736,300; Coronado, $4,014,475; Escondido, $1,223,224; El Cajon, $268,710; National City, $2,089,180; Oceanside, $190,205; La Mesa, $862,725; Chula Vista, $2,079,420.

EL CENTRO.—Imperial valley's cantaloupe shipments for the season passed the 14,000 carload mark today with every indication that another 1000 cars would be added to the total before the end of the week. While the first half of the season was unusually profitable to both growers and shippers, the market declines during the past three weeks have been disastrous and melons having been sold less than cost of production for several days, according to the statement of growers.

RIVERSIDE.—A steady increase in circulation is noted in the yearly figures of the Riverside public library, exclusive of county branches, with a total circulation for the fiscal year just closed of 192,566, an increase of 13,885, or 7.7 per cent over the circulation of 1925-26, which was 178,881. Each month of the 1926-27 year showed a good increase, March and June indicating the largest gains. Circulation for 1926-27 was 13,134, an increase of 1950 over March, 1926, while the circulation of June, 1927, was 18,028, an increase of 3187 over the corresponding month last year.

HEMET.—Building permits issued for the first six months of 1927 through the office of building inspector H. A. Walker show a total construction value within the city limits during that period of $178,250. The total is considerably more than that of the entire year of 1926, when new construction inside the city amounted to $107,000.

SAN BERNARDINO.—San Bernardino county's assessed valuation increased $4,790,066 for the year 1927-28 over the year 1926-27, it is disclosed in the annual assessment roll compiled by County Assessor A. E. Allen and filed with the board of equalization. The statistics in which the personal property tax is estimated for the year of 1927-28, list the valuations as $76,944,640, compared with $72,154,574 in 1926-27.

PALM SPRINGS.—Rumors that have been current here for some time regarding a new hotel project for Palm Springs are confirmed in an announcement released yesterday. The Palm Springs Hotel company, of which Prescott T. Stevens, Los Angeles capitalist, is one of the leading spirits, is arranging to construct in the desert resort town a structure to be known as the Vista Val Monte, at an estimated cost of $745,000. The plans, according to the promoters of the project, provide for a hotel of the most modern type, in keeping with the requirements of tourists of the type which are visiting Palm Springs in such large numbers.

Germans Abolish Advertising Signs On Mail Wagons

BERLIN, July 8.—All advertising signs on mail wagons and letter boxes must disappear, whereas "internal advertising" on postal formulas, in the telephone book and in time tables will be allowed to continue, the German postmaster general decrees.

By this act the postal department has voluntarily sacrificed a very estimable revenue. During the last three months after "ads" on mail wagons and letter boxes were introduced, the postal department derived a net profit of $450,000. In 1925 this increased to $653,000. In 1926 it reached $680,000.

The reason given for abolishing this method of advertising is twofold: First, as a compliance with repeated demands of many advertising firms to abolish this method of a governmental department to help certain firms in a position to or willing to pay for such ads; second, because many parliamentarians in Reichstag objected to having the government's bright yellow mail wagons disfigured "by hideous signs promulgating the best margarine on the market" or "the most desirable dentifrice for the teeth."

ENGLISH BISHOPS DON'T LIKE FILMS

LONDON, July 8.—It is apparently hopeless for the British motion picture houses to seek patrons among the bishops.

This fact emerges from the answers to a questionnaire sent out to prominent persons seeking their opinion on British films. "I never attend, as it strains my eyes," "I am not in the habit of attending 'movies,'" are samples of the answers received from the higher clergy.

A joint poll of the house of lords and the commons shows that the British lawmakers prefer historical films first, then adventure dramas, and next in the order named, comedies, mystery plays, melodramas and, last of all, war pictures.

LITTLE CHILD FATALLY HURT BY P. E. TRAIN

Grego Ignacio, six year old daughter of a Pacific Electric section foreman, residing near the tracks, between Huntington Beach and Sunset Beach, died at the Orange county hospital, early today, from injuries received when she was struck by a Los Angeles-Newport Beach Pacific Electric train, early last night.

Death came after more than five hours of unconsciousness, resulting from a basal fracture of the skull. The child was brought to the hospital at 7:45 p. m., an hour after the accident. She died shortly after midnight today.

Inquest into the death was scheduled to be held at the Harrel undertaking parlors, Huntington Beach, this afternoon, with Coroner Charles D. Brown in charge.

According to information received here, the child was playing on the tracks with several children and did not see the approach of the train. She lived across the street from the tracks, it was said.

WILD ANIMALS TAKE BIG TOLL OF LIVES

LONDON, July 8.—An official report on deaths caused by wild animals in Burma during the last year states that snakes claimed 1169 victims, tigers 38, leopards and panthers 7, elephants 5, crocodiles 4, lion 3, wild pig 1, and the Tuctu lizard 1. The amount paid for the destruction of wild animals was Rs. 74,000 ($700 pounds). The wild animals killed included 17 tigers, 603 leopards and panthers, 415 bears, 112 wild dogs, and one crocodile.

To popularize wireless reception the Italian Government proposes to exact a small radio tax from all householders whether they have sets or not.

CARL S. WARNER IS CHOSEN DEPUTY COUNTY PROBATION OFFICER EFFECTIVE AUG. 1

Carl S. Warner, of Orange, graduate of the Santa Ana high school and junior college and well known Y. M. C. A. worker, was appointed deputy county probation officer at a special meeting of the county juvenile home committee held last night at the hall of records.

The selection of the committee, headed by J. A. Cranston, city superintendent of schools, was confirmed today by Superior Judge Homer G. Ames, in charge of the juvenile division. The new deputy will assume his duties on August 1, the date on which the new law creating the office of deputy county probation officer becomes effective. He will receive $1800 a year, plus traveling expenses.

Warner was chosen from a total of 18 applicants, of which number only three met with the requirements of the committee. His selection was based principally on general fitness for the position, educational qualifications, and experience in dealing with boys.

"We were not looking for the hard-boiled type of man whose ideas of dealing with young minds are different from ours," declared Superintendent Cranston, chairman of the committee. "We wanted a clean, young man who would not only be interested in his work, but who would be interested in the boys placed in his charge," the superintendent continued.

Until recently Warner has been connected with the Union Oil company. He is married and makes his home in Orange.

THREE HEED ON SUSPICION OF PETIT LARCENY

Following the alleged identification of five women's dresses found in a machine occupied by three men at La Habra last night, as being part of the "loot" taken from the store of Mrs. Ollie W. Snell, Placentia, which was burglarized Wednesday night, the three men are being held in the county jail on charges of petit larceny and suspicion of burglary.

The arrests were made by La Habra officers when they stopped the car for a minor traffic violation. The men in jail are Jesus Curill, 24, Oakland; L. Quites, 24, Salinas, and Dan Miranda, 36, Salinas.

The Snell store was robbed of a quantity of wearing apparel. Deputy Sheriff Knight and Ryan today were investigating the robbery.

BORIS EXPECTED TO CHOOSE QUEEN

PARIS, July 8.—Boris, bachelor King of Bulgaria, plans a two weeks' trip to Paris, London and Rome. He is expected to spend three days in each capital as the official guest of the various governments.

Much political significance is attached to the visits, which are to be made at the earnest insistence of the Bulgarian government. This will be the King's first official trip since he took the throne nearly eight years ago.

International gossip has long busied itself with picking a wife for Boris. He himself hasn't shown any great enthusiasm for marriage, although he has not opposed the idea of his statehood, that sooner or later he must, to satisfy his people and dynastic needs, find a queen.

COMMUNIST LOSES IN ELECTION

PARIS, July 8.—The second ballot for the by-election in the aube department resulted in the return of M. Bouhenry, candidate of the Alliance Democratique, a moderate group, by a majority of 3021 votes over the Communist candidate, M. Plard. M. Bouhenry received 25,153 votes, and M. Plard 25,057. The election was important not only as a decisive check to the Communists, but also because the radicals were compelled by the force of circumstances to give their votes to the moderate candidate while the Socialists, their former allies in the Cartel, gave their votes to the Communist.

British Measure Their Drinks By Size Of Purses

LONDON, July 8.—Some recent statistics throw an interesting light upon the drinking habits of Englishmen, particularly in comparison with their incomes.

Thus it is calculated that a married Londoner with an income of 100 pounds a year, together with his wife, drinks in the course of a year 650 pints of beer and thereby enriches the national revenue to the extent of 6 pence.

One who has an income of 1000 pounds does not, of course, drink 10 times as much. He and his wife, indeed, absorb yearly only 226 pints of beer, but they also dispose of 25 bottles of spirits, with a contribution of 13 pounds to the budget. There seems to be a consensus that the consumption of alcohol has increased materially since the war.

Child Theater Is Opened In London

LONDON, July 8.—A theater for children is the latest development here of the little theater movement.

London has many little theaters in out-of-the-way corners devoted to plays by comparatively unknown authors, or to such works as have little chance of commercial success, but this is the first proposal for a children's theater.

Miss Joan Luxton, vivacious, bobbed and blue-eyed, has applied to the London county council for a license for music, dancing and stage plays for her children's theater in a street at the back of Covent Garden.

The little house will seat only 125 persons. Prices will be extremely low, from four cents upward. Performances will be in the afternoon.

President Calles of Mexico is a member of the Freemasons and three members of his cabinet are affiliated with the order.

LONDON'S TAILORS WORK BY CONTRACT

LONDON, July 8.—A firm of Savile-row tailors has prepared a schedule of prices for dressing men in the latest London modes by yearly contract. The customer pays a stated amount for the year and takes his choice of the tailor's materials when new garments are required.

Dressing by contract is not new as far as English society women are concerned. The better London dressmakers adopted this plan some years ago. It is not unusual for prominent society women to pay large sums yearly on the understanding that in return they shall have all the clothes they want.

WOMEN SKATE 215 MILES TO PEORIA

PEORIA, Ill., July 7.—Mrs. Henry Pfetzing and her daughter, Anna Catherine, who started from Kansas City, Kas., on roller skates, arrived in Peoria near here, two days later to conclude a 400-mile trip. The couple said they skated 215 miles of the journey.

In some towns they were barred from skating through and several times they were forced to abandon their skates on account of dirt roads and bad weather. Mrs. Pfetzing injured her shoulder and nose when she slipped and fell while trying to get out of the way of a truck.

"I wouldn't take a million dollars for my experience," said Mrs. Pfetzing when she arrived home.

STORY OF S. A. GIRL'S CAPTURE BY INDIANS IS TOLD IN BOOK

Mrs. Julia Brooks Well Known to Many Here And Over Entire County

AUTHOR ASSISTED BY LOCAL WOMAN

Miss Bertha Briney of This City Prepared Copy and Did Typing for Writer

Many Santa Anans knew Mrs. Julia Brooks when she was a resident of this city several years ago and they were acquainted with the story of her capture by the Cheyenne Indians when she was a little girl. These people will be interested in reading the book, "Girl Captives of the Cheyennes," written and edited by Mrs. Grace Meredith, a niece of one of the sisters who was captured when Mrs. Brooks was.

This book has recently been published by a firm in Los Angeles and contains an account of the capture of four sisters, Catherine, Julia, Addie and Sophia German by an Indian tribe and of the life they experienced during the six months they were with the Indians before United States troops under the command of General Nelson A. Miles rescued them.

The story is told by Catherine, now Mrs. C. E. Swerdfefer, Mrs. Swerdfefer is a sister-in-law of Mrs. Mary Swerdfefer of Anaheim and an aunt of Miss Florence Swerdfefer, assistant librarian at the Anaheim city library.

Accurate Account The story of the capture and rescue of these four German sisters has been written several times, according to the author, but the stories have always been inaccurate. In this book information has been received chiefly from Mrs. Swerdfefer, eldest of the four girls, who has copious notes referring to her six months' captivity.

The story opens with the tale of the hardships and suffering experienced by the family during the Civil War when much of their property was destroyed by marauding Union soldiers. During this war the father of the girls, John Swerdfefer, was in a prison camp which seriously injured his health and led him to decide to go to Colorado where, a number of years later, he was headed when the Indian raiders descended upon him and his family, killing three children, Mr. and Mrs. German and carrying off the four sisters.

Despite the fact that these girls would be very bitter towards the Indians they have written of their separate experiences in an amazingly sympathetic manner, treating on the reason of why the Indians felt justified in murdering white people.

The two younger sisters, Julia

GIRL RESERVES RETURN AFTER 10 DAYS CAMP

Miss Helen McPeak, secretary of the Santa Ana Girl Reserve clubs, and seven delegates to the Pacific Coast conference of Girl Reserve club were home today after 10 days spent at Asilomar where the conference was held. Delegates from Santa Ana to return with Miss McPeak were Miss Margaret Wilson, Miss Janet Wilson, Miss Georgia Croft, Miss Georgia Turner, Miss Florence Brownridge, Miss Dorothy Diehl, and Miss Helen Hill.

Miss McPeak reported that the conference was one of the best attended, ever to be held at Asilomar. Ninety-nine girls went from Los Angeles and surrounding towns alone. Girls and Girl Reserve secretaries were present from Utah, Arizona, Hawaii, and California.

Leaders of the conference included Miss Emma Knaus of the national executive staff at New York who headed the teachers, Miss Anna K. Gilbert of New York, Miss Emelita Cohen of San Francisco, and Miss Eunice Biddle of Long Beach.

Girl Reserve secretaries were appointed to lead the smaller daily discussion groups. Miss McPeak having charge of the drama hour. In this line she directed two one-act plays dealing with the life of St. Francis as well as a Mission pageant and other plays.

The group discussions were planned to help the girls find a hobby and to develop it into something of advantage to their daily life. There were also classes in leadership training and classes to aid the girls to cope with situations arising in private life.

LESS THAN 50 ACRES DEVOTED TO 'COTS' HERE

Several years ago the raising of apricots in Orange county, if not one of the leading industries in the farming field, was at least one well thought of and one to which much time and acreage was given.

But that was years ago. Time changes many things on the farms as well as in the cities and it also has changed the status of apricot growing in this country. Ten or 12 years ago at least 1000 acres of some of Orange county's best soil boasted of apricot trees. Today that acreage has dwindled to less than 50 acres, according to figures obtained from the office of Farm Advisor Harold Wahlberg.

Santa Ana grocers and markets have the fresh fruit on sale and the price is as low as 5 cents a pound, retail, but the demand is not great and the apricots seen at this time are not of the best variety. The packing and shipping of the fruit in Orange county now is nil, local packing plants reported.

The best of dried apricots are shipped into Santa Ana for local use, one grocer said today. The price is high, which indicates that the production is not as great as it was at one time. Dried apricots are selling at from 15 cents to 40 cents per pound at local markets.

The best of the fruit is grown near Hemet and is being shipped from there at this time.

Most of the apricot acreage in Orange county at this time is in the El Toro district. Farm Advisor Wahlberg said today that a few trees were to be found elsewhere in Orange county.

In this section, in many cases, the trees have been allowed to produce without care of any kind being given them, and therefore the production is growing smaller every year, he said.

Reasons for non-production of apricots in Orange county are attributed to many and various things, Wahlberg said.

The fruit grown here was generally of an early variety, he said. Ranchers decided that citrus fruit and walnuts were better paying propositions and substituted citrus and walnuts for the apricot orchards.

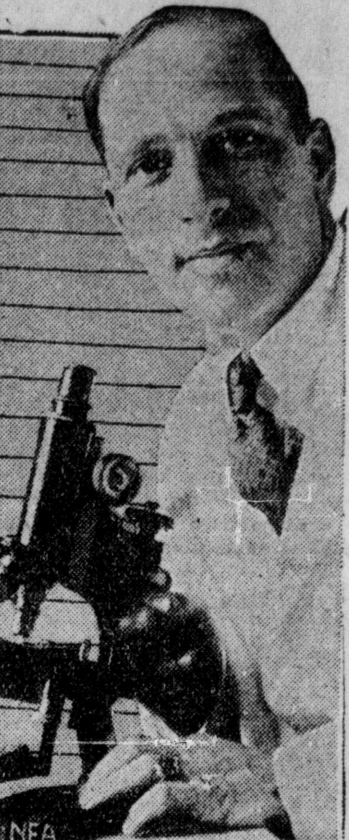

Much of the acreage, however, which still stands in apricots has been neglected, Wahlberg said.

Another trouble the grower experienced in harvesting his fruit for the market was in procuring labor at the proper time. With the trees all ripening at the same time, it was necessary to have labor ready at the psychological moment and this was hard to do. Unable to get the labor at the time needed, meant that the grower lost his crop.

With citrus fruit, growers have several months in which to gather the crop, and they found this easier than handling apricots—and more profitable.

In Fiji, boys are taught by their fathers to strike their mothers, this being a practice to prevent the boys from becoming cowards.

ON PLAGUE TRAIL

Definite proof that tuberculosis germs produce a toxin or poison that may lead to the discovery of an antitoxin, comparable to that now used for prevention of other diseases, has just been offered by Dr. Frederick Ebersson, assistant professor of medicine at the University of California medical school. Further experiments are hoped to produce a standardized serum.

EXHIBIT SPACE TO BE LARGER FOR 1927 FAIR

Anticipating one of the largest and finest agricultural and industrial exhibitions ever developed by the Orange County Fair association, plans are well under way this week at the fair grounds located midway between Anaheim and Santa Ana, for enlarging exhibition space, extension of the present water lines and generally placing the grounds in condition for the fair celebration which opens Labor day, September 5.

Already inquiries from every section of the county and the numerous outside exhibitors who are expected to take part in the fair celebration this year are pouring in. It was announced by J. R. Hunt, manager of the fair who states that exhibit space in several of the departments has been going at a rapid pace.

A general clean-up campaign was inaugurated this week in preparation for the rearrangement of the tents housing the several industrial, agricultural and livestock exhibits and other valuable features of the fair. Much new construction is contemplated which eventually will add 40 to 50 new box stalls for the blooded horse show stock and larger corrals have been built to care for the big rodeo program that is being supplied this year.

With all indications pointing to an attendance of not less than 100,000 according to the tentative estimate of officials consideration

NONOGENARIAN DAILY VISITOR AT BIRCH PARK

W. L. Wilhite Sits Under Jacaranda Tree Where He Recalls Pioneer Days

It is pleasant in Birch park these mornings. Pleasant for an old, old man to sit on a bench under a blue jacaranda tree and dream dreams, although it may be that 94 is not so old when the heart is young, the face, that has smiled and saddened at the joys and sorrows of nearly a century, singularly unwrinkled. When W. L. Wilhite walks to the park from his home at 614 Bush street, his step is slow but it does not falter and he walks erectly down the gravelled path.

Everyone knows Mr. Wilhite and it is noteworthy that none of those who greet him in passing, address him as "grandpa." He is a contemporary in spirit if not in years. Beyond the trees his clear eyes see the city as it was.

Turn back the pages of history to 50 years or more ago and Mr. Wilhite is in the prime of life, preaching the gospel, living on his 140 acres of bare land on what was known as the old Dresser ranch. On this land Mr. Wilhite raised castor beans, American beans, he says, as well as Mexican variety didn't "pop" good. Mr. Wilhite raised his beans and his family with enviable success. Of the family of 10 children, six are now living and he has over 60 grandchildren and great-grandchildren. The pioneer received five cents a pound for his beans and usually cleared $100 an acre on them.

Mr. Wilhite drove a caravan to Santa Ana in 1872 and has never left the state since he entered it as a young man. "I have outlived my wife who was five years older than I and who died four years ago. She liked to live where she could hear a cow bell tinkle, a rooster crow and a dog bark," mused this nonagenarian, "and so I did."

Mr. Wilhite walks up town daily to do his shopping or to go on down Orange avenue where he has a well kept garden which he cares for himself.

The church at Talbert was started by Mr. Wilhite who superseeded the bob-tailed pony races that took place there on Sunday with meetings in a tent. Neither Mr. Wilhite nor his wife came from long lived families and he attributes his own great age to a temperate life, the climate of California and doing as near right by everyone as he knew. He dispenses a quaint philosophy of life from his park bench while the blackbirds flit their tails along a green lawn and white butterflies flutter out their one day of life in the warm sunshine. The wrens bathing splashily in the little pools of water perk their heads and listen as he talks to a companion on evolution, perchance, or the many, many things that a man may learn in nearly a hundred years.

Among the recent acquisitions to the British Museum is the prism used by Sir Isaac Newton for his experiments.

Eavesdropping is still punishable as a crime under an old act of the British parliament dating back to the year 1360.

OUTFALL SEWER COMPLETED

Santa Ana city councilmen and officials were shown the operations of placing the last link of the outfall sewer to serve Orange county communities by C. F. Butte, of the Butte construction company. In the picture are, from left, J. L. McBride and Clyde Jenken, middle, Frank Purinton and C. F. Butte, upper, Stanley Goode and W. J. Kelly.

ASSERT WOMEN OF TODAY HAVE LITTLE MONEY

With the advent of that much discussed person, catalogued and described by creators of fiction as "the new woman," surrounded in an atmosphere of bobbed hair, abbreviated dresses, rolled stockings, milady's cigaret and other manifestations of "this new freedom," some people are beginning to question the truthfulness of the accepted belief that "it always is the woman who pays."

But while the New Woman of today does what she likes, regardless of the wishes of mere man, she is the one that keeps on paying in some form or another for her experiences in life. Visible proof of that contention is the transactions which take place every day at the cashier's window of the Southern Counties Gas company and the Southern California Edison, two public service corporations which a furnace light and heat to very household.

Inquiries at the Edison office revealed that it is the woman that pays the electric light bill. Among those who pay are not a few that carry everything in their purse—everything except a pledge card "to honor and obey." The cashier volunteered the explanation, however, that the reason bills are paid mostly by women is that they have more time to attend to the family finances.

Further inquiries regarding "The New Woman" brought out that while she is quite willing to pay a small fortune for a stylish hat, she turns into an Amazon of old if the lighting bill gives indirect evidence of a newly acquired electric iron or some new contrivance using current.

"True enough, our grandmothers handled the family pocket-book, but they practiced subtle strategy in holding out enough for pin money," remarked the woman cashier at the Southern Counties Gas company.

Her observations regarding the paying of bills did not agree with those of her colleague at the Edison company. She said that the greater number of family accounts are paid by men. "No, the women seem to have less money than before, and when our collectors call on housewives for payment, they are told to come back when their husbands are at home."

Tall Palm 50 Years Old Stands Guard at Edge Of City on 5th Street

NEIGHBORS' PLEAS IS AID TO "MUTT"

Old Pepper Trees Give Up Drooping Branches in Front of Spanglers Shop

"In the wealth of the wood since the world began, The trees have offered their gift"

Trees were invented some time before Joyce Kilmer wrote his oft-quoted lines regarding them. It is a well known fact that trees came into prominence with the advent of man, the famous Tree of Knowledge having been his best known contemporary.

With the perfection of the radio, a lot of people who have never done so before, learned about trees through hearing Mr. Kilmer's verse broadcast from various stations. Thereon they began to think of the monarchs of the forest as something more than mere material for the fireplace, dining room furniture and toothpicks. However, there are still a discouragingly large number of people who consider that the severe simplicity of the telephone pole is greatly superior to the lofty pine from which it was fashioned.

Santa Ana in common with nearly every other city, has trees of which it is proud, trees that grew up with the town and are a significant part of its history. Many of the city's arborescences of the arboreal world are disappearing, crowded from the earth by new buildings, the widening of streets or in some instances, cut down because they are dying.

Time was when the willows flourished here mightily; time when the arborescences flowed with no particular objective and the willows grew lush around them, their trailing green skirts sweeping softly above the clear, bubbling water.

Large Variety The beauty of the trees that now line the streets of Santa Ana is keenly realized when they are seen from the roof of the First National bank building. Birch park from this vantage point seems to be a magic tale of green. From this distance it would not be imagined that the mingled branches belong to 67 kinds of trees. (If you don't believe this, count them!) There are three Torrey pines shipped directly from Australia, scarlet tipped pomegranates, a cork elm, one of the very few cork oaks in this vicinity, a trio of Australian flame trees, a queer palm tree that dangles a cluster of seeds that look like looped strings of big pink beads. There are shaggy palms and smooth ones, squat ones and stately ones, pines and magnolias and any number of the 300 varieties of eucalypti.

Among the very oldest trees in the city is the tall palm that stands sentinel at the edge of town on West Fifth street, on what has been known for many years as the Hyle place. This veteran is nearing the half century mark and is conceded to be the tallest palm, if not the tallest tree in Santa Ana. The tree is one of two set out by Fred Hyle.

Two Indian Girls SOUGHT BY SHERIFF

Two Indian girls who escaped from the Sherman Indian Institute at Hemet on July 6, were the object of a search being made in this county today by sheriff's officers.

The girls were thought to have left with a man in a small car, according to a report filed with the sheriff by Mrs. Etta Long, outgoing matron at Hemet.

One of the girls, Rose Lauer, is described as being five feet, six inches in height, has bobbed hair and was wearing a blue and white gingham dress. The other girl was Willetta Crain, who wore a brown dress at the time she left.

RAILROADS THROUGH ANATOLIA PLANNED

CONSTANTINOPLE, July 8.—It is reported from Ankara that a contract has been signed by the Turkish government and a German firm whereby the latter undertakes to build two railway lines in Anatolia.

The first line will be from Kuthah to Taushanli (in the region south of the sea of Marmora), a distance of 140 miles; the second from Kaisair to Ulukishla (Central Anatolia), 112 miles.

BRIGHT COLOR APPROVED FOR OUTDOOR WEAR

PARIS, July 8.—Ladies' day at Chantilly always brings forth many bright colors, furs, satins, sports suits, pleated skirts and a few capes.

A pale green dress and coat was worn with gray furs, a green hat and gray shoes. On a beige coat was a smoky beige fur. With a black dress of crepe satin was a long ivory-white waistcoat of shredded black and white kid.

The so-called sports suit was worn under a long coat of figured kasha or tweed. Slim little pleated skirts of silk or woolen crepe had loose striped jumper tops and hats to match the skirts trimmed with ribbon bands to match the jumpers. A black taffeta dress with a fine lingerie front, collar and cuffs was worn with a short taffeta coat trimmed with paste buttons.

Breakfast to Dinner Sports clothes are now worn from breakfast time to dinner when they are made of fine woolen jersey and silk. To be elaborately dressed during the day is to risk looking overdressed. Over a little dress of crepe marocain or crepe de Chine an ice wool carizian may be worn.

A bright colored cardigan may be put over a dress of neutral shade. Angora skirts and pale jumpers are right. Smoky gray is mixed with old blue, beige and old blue are put together, and the hat, of felt or straw, or both, after matches.

Printed chiffon dresses are worn under long fur-trimmed coats of charmelaine, crepe marocain, crepe de chine, or finely ribbed silk. Tulle dresses and coats in the natural color are worn with long coats trimmed with fur, or with a rolled, ribbed collar and cuffs. The few feather boas and colored furs strike a false note.

Handmade Flowers Flowers made by hand to match a dress are pinned on the shoulder. A fine white muslin flower on a black dress, one in printed chiffon to go with a chiffon dress, are examples. A black coat and skirt worn with a white crepe satin blouse and a small white crepe satin flower and a black center is another.

Black and white plain coarse straw hats have felt brims and are simply trimmed with narrow silk ribbon. Close-fitting felt hats have feather bands across the brow which end at the sides. Navy blue felt has a band of beige feathers. Black has shiny black feathers. With a dress and coat of banana yellow and black the hat is black and the feathers are yellow. Wide brimmed hats are not much worn. Toques and narrow brimmed hats are the fashion. A safe rule in choosing a hat for a colored dress is to have a plain black felt or straw, or with the crown of straw and the brim of felt attached to the crown, not under it, and to trim the crown a silk ribbon band and diamond pin. The all-black hat is in high fashion.

CARLYLE GRAVE IS SOUGHT BY GERMAN

LONDON, July 8.—Emil Ludwig, distinguished German biographer, who has been called the "German Carlyle" because of his penchant for presenting history with dramatic emphasis, sought the grave of Thomas Carlyle at Westminster Abbey as one of his first acts on his recent visit to London.

He was disappointed, however, to learn that the "Sage of Chelsea" is not buried at the famous abbey at all, but at his birthplace in Ecclefechan, Scotland.

The quaint Annandale village was immediately placed on the itinerary of Ludwig's tour.

BREA

Mrs. Gladys Travers, of Olinde, is in the Smart Shoppe, having taken the place of Miss Cecelia McCullough, who has been ordered by her physician to take a rest for the summer months. Miss McCullough plans on going to the mountains soon.

Miss Thelma Williams, 14-year-old daughter of Mrs. Rosalie Williams, had the misfortune to run her hand through the electric clothes wringer on Tuesday. No bones are broken but the hand is in a badly bruised condition.

Mr. and Mrs. Wayne McVeigh and daughter, of Clayton, New Mexico, arrived Tuesday in Brea and are visiting briefly with Mrs. Gretta Lackey and daughter, Miss Margaret. Other recent visitors in the Lackey home were Mrs. Harry Nicholson and children, of Annarillo, Texas.

W. E. Jones, father of Mrs. Lee Green, left Wednesday for his old home in Illinois, expecting to be away most of the summer. Mr. Jones will also visit in Kansas City while away.

Mrs. Stella Kiger was operated on Wednesday at the Whittier Memorial hospital for the removal of her appendix. During her absence from the store of Mrs. Evelyn Nagay, her place is being filled by Mrs. Clara Burquist. Mrs. Kiger is reported as progressing nicely.

Leslie Leuzinger, six-year-old son of J. E. Leuzinger, chairman of the board of trustees of the city of Brea, had an arm broken last week while rolling a heavy steel wheel. He is at the home of his grandmother, near San Diego.

AT THE THEATERS

Tom Mix and Natalie Joyce in a scene from "The Circus Ace," current attraction at the West Coast-Walker theater.

Babe Ruth, himself, in a scene from "When Babe Comes Home," photoplay starring the New York Yankee home run hitter which opens at the Yost Broadway theater tonight.

YOST THEATER
Starting Sunday the Yost theater offers Mrs. Wallace Reid's absorbing story of unfortunate girls "The Red Kimono." Based on an actual case from the records of the Los Angeles courts this picture shows with startling vividness the sinister methods employed by white slavers to obtain recruits to the ranks of the sisterhood of sorrow. Believing that this story contains a lesson that should appeal to mothers and to all growing girls as well, Mrs. Reid has requested that special matinees be given for women only so that mothers and daughters may attend without embarrassment. At the night shows there are no restrictions except that children under 15 will not be admitted unless accompanied by their parents.

WEST COAST-WALKER

Tom Mix, celebrated western ace, has one of the most stirring roles of his long screen career in "The Circus Ace," a fast-moving drama of the west, which begins tonight at the West Coast-Walker theater. Tom and Tony, catapulted into the heart of circus life, find thrills without number when the star determines to rescue a beautiful performer from the schemes of Big Top workers who seek to dominate her.

This is a picture for every member of the family, for Tom is not only perfectly at home in the tent scenes, but puts Tony through some strenuous stunts in a whirlwind campaign against the plotsters. Natalie Joyce, a beautiful girl of the old south, plays opposite Tom.

On the stage is a Fanchon and Marco "Specialty" bill, featuring a number of artists who have made themselves popular. Bobby Wolf and his band will be on the stage with the following acts: Chrissie and Daley, Macon and Mayo, Ed LeGros and Vince Silk.

Polish Corridor Visas Abolished

BERLIN, July 8.—Polish visas have been abolished for all persons traveling through the Polish corridor on the two principal trains of the Dirschau-Danzig-Marienborg route, connecting with the regular Berlin-Warsaw service.

This passport alleviation was agreed upon at a joint conference at Danzig between the German and Polish authorities with the view of further facilitating traffic between Germany and Poland.

It was mutually decided, however, that the regulation requiring passengers to present their passports on entry into Danzig territory remain in force.

Wine May Be Cut From Paris Menus

PARIS, July 8.—The famous French restaurant table d'hôte known to the French as "prix fixe"—is in a fair way to have wine definitely eliminated.

The rapid rise in the price of wine caused many restaurants to increase prices and others to make an extra charge.

YOST BROADWAY THEATER

Baltimore, Maryland, now proudly calls George Herman ("Babe") Ruth, its most renowned native son, but a score of years ago its citizenry failed to appreciate his madcap antics. Eastsiders voted this overgrown urchin and his gang tickets to St. Mary's Industrial school and therefore deserve credit for starting a career which today is beheld as the most colorful on the horizon of American notables.

"Babe" Ruth's ascension to the pinnacle of fame in his chosen professional baseball career has served merely as a medium to popularize him as the greatest attraction in the varied field of entertainment. Unlike heroes of sportsdom who preceded him on the field of glory, Ruth started his spectacular achievements where the others concluded.

From the overgrown boy on the sandlot team Ruth rose to the top, but like his predecessor heroes, fell. But it was only a physical setback—the indubitable spirit still flamed—and the Big Boy from Baltimore battered his way back into the hearts of not only baseball fandom but of the whole nation.

While Ruth's 1926 playing proved his record season and added much to his lengthy list of achievements, he was persuaded to forfeit the pleasures of hunting and fishing at the season's close to make his first notable photoplay. The swat king had previously gone out in vaudeville in the larger cities but this medium did not bring him to his admirers in his famous role.

The movie in which he appears, "Babe Comes Home," enables those millions to view him as the wonder he actually is.

Ruth is 33 years old, married and has one daughter, Dorothy, age 7. He stands six-feet two inches, weighs 220 pounds and trains in every branch of outdoor sports.

TEMPLE THEATER

In "The Last Alarm," which plays at the Temple theater tonight and tomorrow, Wanda Hawley has the role of Vivian Valentine, a beautiful show girl who has won the heart of Frank Brennan, a fire fighting hero played by Theodore Von Eltz. It is she whose nimble brain solves the mystery which is wrecking the lives of at least five people. At the same time the cause of the mystery, a detestable man who desires the actress, is being protected by his own shrewd villainy.

Maurice Costello has the other leading part as Dave Brennan, heroic old fire captain. Others in the cast are Hazel Howell, Rex Lease, Jimmy Aubrey, Florence Turner and Ervin Renard.

A strong cast, a powerful story and the usual public interest in the business of fire fighting, combine to make it one of the most successful films of the current season.

Bank Failure Hits Diamond Industry

ANTWERP, July 8.—Since the failure of the Handelsbank the Antwerp diamond industry has been passing through a troubled time. Until now it has always been laid down that none but Belgians should sit upon the committee of the diamond club, which controls the industry. At a general meeting of the club, however, it was decided that hereafter there shall be no restrictions of nationality on the membership of the committee. The Etoile Belge believes that this decision may have far-reaching consequences for the future of the industry.

JANE GREEN COMING TO WALKER SUNDAY

Siren of Syncopation Will Head Fanchon-Marco New 'Idea' Here

It won't be long now folks—she'll be here to set the town a-tingle.

Jane Green—America's favorite and the sweetheart of the Golden West—the supreme Siren of Syncopation, who for the past two years has reigned supreme on New York's Great White Way, will land at the West Coast-Walker theater, in Fanchon and Marco's next little collegiate idea, "The Petter," coming Sunday, Monday and Tuesday. Fanchon and Marco have been recipients of thousands of congratulatory messages since the announcement of the booking of Jane Green was made public a while ago, and it is expected that she will receive the greatest ovation of any stage star they have ever brought to Santa Ana.

Miss Green comes here with a whole armful of songs and those who know Jane Green's songs know what to expect. For those who don't, let it suffice to say that practically every song she has ever featured has become an international hit.

The whole idea, "The Petter," was built by Fanchon and Marco in which Miss Green is featured—and no expense was spared to make this production the outstanding show of the year.

Jane Green originally started at the Vernon Country club several years ago, where she was given her first chance to sing a "blues" number. Her success was instantaneous and step by step she climbed the ladder of fame until she became a headliner in the leading vaudeville circuits of the world. Her fame traveled far and fast—and by the time she reached New York, those "in the know" were waiting to hear her. From her first appearance on Broadway, she was the talk of the season.

Remarkable good looks, a world of personality, and a voice of which there are few equals, combined with the fact that her numbers are always the kind which the audience comes out whistling, have made this star one of the greatest it has been the privilege of the West Coast-Walker theater to present.

Doctors Reveal New Radium Cure

PARIS, July 8.—Remarkable results are claimed for a new radium treatment devised by two Paris physicians, Drs. Bayeux and Vaugou, which was explained to the Academy of Sciences by Professor d'Arsonval. Gases such as oxygen or nitrogen, or even air, combined with emanations from radium salts, are introduced into the seats of disease and are said to afford immediate and permanent benefit. Radio-active oxygen, notably, is absorbed twice as fast as the pure gas.

COMPLEXION SO IMPROVED, FRIENDS ASK WHAT SHE USED

Delights in telling of simple treatment

Detroit, Mich., Jan. 29.—"I am so thankful for Resinol Soap and Ointment and what they have done for me. For several years my face has been badly broken out with small pimples. They were very sore and so embarrassing I was ashamed to go among people. I tried several treatments, even those specially prescribed, but none of them healed the trouble. At last I began to use Resinol Soap and Ointment as directed. In a few days my skin began to look better, and now it is so clear my friends ask me what I used. I delight in telling them about Resinol Soap and Ointment, and I will never be without these products."—(Signed) Mrs. Sara Burnett, 6344 Scotten Ave.

EXHIBIT SPACE TO BE LARGER FOR 1927 FAIR

has been given to doubling the seating capacity of the grand stand which will provide space for an additional 4000, it was said. The track upon which will be seen the splendid horse show exhibition and rodeo stunt features has been regraded and placed in condition for a par excellent showing of these two big features of the Orange County fair.

The various details with regard to the enlargements of fair ground facilities, floor space increase, and general enlargement of every department for the 1927 Orange county celebration and exhibit brings the activities preparatory to the opening of the show to a much earlier stage of development.

Further plans are being worked out for housing the increase in features, exhibits, amusements, and the added attractions of the rodeo and war demonstration spectacle. Friday evening the executive committee of the Orange County Fair board will meet in Santa Ana to consider immediate action on the necessary increases and to complete arrangements for the rodeo program. Contracts for the Baker Ranch Amusement company have been drawn up. It was announced this week by F. L. Purinton, rodeo director, and will be presented to the executive board session tonight for their consideration.

FIRE DEPARTMENT RESCUES SWALLOW

BERLIN, July 8.—The Berlin fire department, known in the jargon of the street as the "mild for everything," recently performed a stunt which would gladden the heart of any humane society official.

Pedestrians passing a coffee shop on Krausenstrasse, in the center of the business district, noticed that a swallow was caught by the wing in the eaves moldings. All the bird's efforts to free itself were vain. Someone turned in a fire alarm.

The fire department, which has caught swarming bees, helped people who have forgotten their keys and removed the debris after auto collisions, added a new page of honor to its record by restoring liberty to the frightened little swallow.

GIRL'S CAPTURE BY INDIANS IS TOLD IN BOOK

and Addie, were thought too young to be cared for by the Indians so that they left them alone on the prairie. Here the two little girls, five and seven years old, lived for six weeks by themselves. For food they ate tender roots and fruit and occasionally they found corn or a lone cracker left where some soldiers had camped.

At the end of the six weeks the little girls were recaptured by some Indians and soon after United States troops rescued them. It was at the time of their rescue that the soldiers learned of the fate of the two older girls and swore to rescue them at all costs.

Held By Captors
Catherine, the eldest girl, was very obedient and tried hard to please her captors so that her fate was easier than that of her sister, Sophia. Catherine was placed in a kindly family and given her tasks to do. She says that these Indians were very good to her as were others in the tribe.

An interesting phase of the story is the description of Chief Stone Calf who had been deserted by his tribe because he would not sanction the Indians' attacking the white people. It was through the efforts of this chief that Catherine and Sophia were finally returned to the white people.

Miss Bertha Briney of this city assisted Mrs. Meredith in preparing the copy for the printers. She also typed a great deal of it. Any one wishing to purchase the book may get it through her or through the Santa Ana book store.

Students of pioneer history will enjoy this book for its simple direct truths which present a true picture of the years of Indian warfare before General Custer finally subjugated them.

Movie Chatterbox

HOLLYWOOD, Calif., July 8.—The motion picture industry, more than any other, now offers women an equal chance with men, and women have now invaded practically every department in moviedom—executive, scenario, directorial, editorial and publicity. In each, they have been greeted with the same consideration and high salaries as their husky male competitors.

In the executive field there is Henrietta Cohn. Miss Cohn spent many years as secretary to Jesse Lasky and B. P. Schulberg, Paramount executive. A few months ago she was promoted to the position of assistant production manager at the Lasky studio.

Leaders in the scenario branch both happen to be women. June Mathis is famous throughout moviana for her scenarios. For a while, Miss Mathis was listed among the producers, but that position took too much time from her writing, so now she is content to gain her laurels as a scrivener.

Jeanie McPherson could easily work before the camera instead of behind it—but she finds turning out scenarios far more interesting and remunerative. Despite her youth, Jeanie is Cecil B. DeMille's leading scenarioist, her greatest work having been the adaptation of the Bible for "The King of Kings."

Among make-believe village's foremost directors are two women. Dorothy Arzner and Lois Weber. Lois Weber has been wielding the megaphone for some years and has turned out some of Universal's best productions. Dorothy Arzner now has only two films to her credit but each proved such a success that Jesse Lasky considers her one of the real "finds" of the year.

Many women have invaded the publicity department of filmdom with fair success, but it was Beulah Livingston who proved that even the big jobs are open for members of her sex. She was recently appointed director of publicity for Joe Schenck, Hollywood's biggest producer.

There is an over-abundance of beauty prize winners floating around the village trying to crash the movies on the strength of their pretty faces and figures, but there are always openings for women of real intelligence in the production field.

Maria Corda, beautiful Hungarian actress, has been awarded the title role in its forthcoming film version of John Erskine's famous novel, "The Private Life of Helen of Troy." In addition to Maria Corda, leading parts have already been awarded to Lewis Stone and Virginia Lee Corbin.

Eighteen decrepit automobiles have just been collected to be used in "The First Auto," a movie

ANCIENT TREES COULD RECITE EARLY HISTORY

Orange county pioneer and the pair were affectionately known as "Mutt and Jeff" as one had grown less rapidly than the other and was considerably shorter.

"Mutt" Is Saved

About 10 years ago, Greenwald Hyle, a son of the pioneer, cut down one of the trees as the grass grew thickly about their bases at the edge of his orange grove. When "Jeff" had fallen with a crash, the neighbors urged Mr. Hyle to let "Mutt" stand. So lonely enough no doubt "Mutt" towers some 75 feet skyward, too far above the orange tree below to gain any sort of companionship from them. Recently "Mutt" was utilized as an aerial for the family radio and he may receive some consolation from serving this useful end.

The seven tall palms in front of the Halliday house on the corner of Halliday and First streets are but slightly younger than "Mutt" although they are clothed in heavy down hanging leaves, while "Mutt" was denuded, last winter, of this glory by a roistering wind.

What is considered by authorities on trees, to be the most perfect specimen of redwood in the city, is growing on the property of G. Y. Coutts, 520 North Birch. Near it is a beautiful sequoia.

The famous old sycamore tree of Santa Ana is no more and the two pepper trees in front of George Spangler's blacksmith shop on South Sycamore street, a short time since lost all their drooping branches that hung over the street, in the interests of progress. These latter trees were transplanted from Anaheim by Mrs. Robert English when the blacksmith shop was a hotel and it was thought by many that the time would never come when so large a hotel would be filled with guests.

Black Walnuts

Almost reaching perfection are the two black walnut trees at South Broadway, the home of S. M. Dungan. These trees were brought from Wisconsin by Noah Palmer. A few miles away at Orange on South Glassell street is the house built by Dr. McCoy. In this interesting yard is an immense cork oak and the largest rubber tree in the southern part of the state. Further away at Sierra Madre on Sunday, a tree absent from Californian soil for 400 years will be returned in the form of a cutting. This will be the cutting of a young growing in the New Gardens at London taken there by Sir Francis Drake from what is now San Francisco.

Up the canyon at Modjeska's is an interesting tree, a thorn tree of the same sort of which the crown of thorns was made that crowned the Christ. This tree is said to have been sent to Madame Modjeska from Palestine by one of the Vanderbilts.

There is a queer tree growing out on Hickey street, an umbrella tree that is rearing a magnolia tree, growing in a deep hole in its trunk. There have been trees in Santa Ana that the woodman—that is, the telephone men and the paving contractors have been begged to spare and have been able to spare not—there are trees that indisputably are endowed with more interesting stories than these recounted—trees whose stories are just waiting to be told.

of early horseless carriage days. Wraiths of the past rise out of the smoky exhaust, rear themselves up in the high iron-bound seats, recalling a time when he who had an automobile was a Croesus, and he who rode in one was a death-defier.

The old automobiles have been collected from all parts of the country, from junk heaps in large cities, and out-of-the-way barns in the country; from museums and garages; from people who kept them out of sentiment and from those who kept them because they couldn't get rid of them.

One is a Tourist, another is a Selden; there are a couple of ten-foot high Cadillacs. None is less than 20 years of age, and many have not moved for 15 years. With patience and knowledge, however, mechanics have rejuvenated the ancient vehicles, so they will be seen in "The First Auto" moving by means of their original power.

Some of them crank on the side; some crank in front; and a few in back. The entrance to the vehicles are at all corners and the steering devices are as varied as the doors. Some of them are motivated by leather belt drives, others by ordinary heavy bicycle chains, but in their days they were the most magnificent of passenger devices, the lowliest and ugliest machine being respected by those who owned it more than today's Rolls Royce or Daimler.

Many of the 18 were driven by famous racing drivers, most of whom are gone and forgotten. Dan Patch was the Ralph de Palma of those days. Barney Oldfield was just learning to manipulate the new-fangled things, and Eddie Rickenbacker was in grammar school. Vanderbilt hadn't started offering cups to the person who could break the thirty-mile-an-hour record.

DISTRICT P.-T.A.
TO PLAN CHILD
STUDY SCHOOL

Pending resumption of full time activities with the opening of school next September, the officers of the Fourth (Orange county) District of the California Congress of Parents and Teachers, and subordinated units, including city federations and local associations, are working on plans for cooperating with the state department of education in the organization and maintenance of schools for child study and parent education. Inquiries revealed today.

According to Mrs. J. V. Kelsey, president of the district organization, the membership as a whole is interested in the project, and hope is entertained that one of the experimental schools, to be operated by the state department of education, will be located in Santa Ana. Because of its excellent organization, reported to be one of the best in the state, the Orange county district organization, has already been under consideration by the state authorities it was learned.

The state department of education in promoting the formation of schools for adults for child study and parent education has in mind the following aims:

(1) To present to parents in non-technical language the opinions of recognized experts in the field of child study.

(2) To afford parents the opportunity for directed practice in the analysis of the common problems connected with child development and child behavior; to afford opportunity for directed practice in the application of generalized information to concrete situations.

(3) To afford parents the opportunity for the direct observation of young children in a child study laboratory.

In forming these study groups it is the policy of the state department of education to seek the cooperation of already existing organizations whose membership and aims indicate that they will be interested in this branch of adult education. For successful group study of problems of parenthood it is essential that there be a frank exchange of experiences and opinions among the members of the group. This is most likely to occur among those who are already engaged in a common undertaking. For this reason such organizations as the California Congress of Mothers and Parent-Teacher Associations, Federated Women's Clubs, American Association of University Women, are asked to aid in initiating the organization of such study groups.

FEEDING METHODS

Practical methods of feeding and demonstrations of the best methods of all phases of dairying will be explained and demonstrated by G. E. Gordon, extension specialist in dairying from the University of California at Berkeley at an open meeting to be held at the H. L. Wakeham ranch at 10 a. m. July 12. The ranch is described as being one mile south and east of the Greenville Bean warehouse.

The session is expected to be concluded shortly after 1 p. m. The meeting is being conducted under the auspices of the Orange county farm bureau with W. M. Cory, assistant farm advisor, in charge.

Sheriff officers today warned Orange county housewives to beware of a woman selling "Paris cosmetics."

This woman, described as being 35 to 40 years old duped several women in Glendale a few days ago selling them a concoction for the removal of wrinkles.

In one case the woman collected $20.40 for her "wrinkle eliminator" stating to the purchaser that another customer would visit her in a week and return the money to her for the idea.

The woman gave the name of Mrs. C. R. Spencer, officers said.

NEW WINDOWS

RHEIMS, July 8.—The work of restoring stained glass windows in the famous Cathedral of Rheims has been delegated to the family of Jacques Simon since the fifteenth century.

Simon is completing the restoration of the nineteenth of the splendid thirteenth century windows of the cathedral destroyed during the war.

Designs of the windows made by his father in 1880 are used as a basis of replacements when storms broke sections of the precious glass.

Bits of broken glass are the modern artist's chief guide to duplication of colors for the windows. Although his father's designs are in color Simon has studied fragments of the original glass wherever possible in an effort to copy, as closely as modern methods can, the rich coloring of the ancient work.

Simon works in a studio especially equipped for the Rheims cathedral task. Restoration of the windows is his life work. Of the 39 windows in the church only six were spared by war devastation.

BOLSA

BOLSA, July 8.—The Bolsa club plans a dance Saturday evening in the local clubhouse.

Members of the Sterling Price family were in Huntington Beach for the Fourth of July celebration. F. hall were members of the Bolsa club orchestra, Robert Richardson, Clyde Richardson, Roy Burns and William Driscoll, and Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Ross, Wayne Richardson and Frank Walker.

Mrs. Ethel Holsclaw, who has been visiting here with her sisters, Mrs. Sterling Price and Mrs. George Harding, returned Monday to her home at Saugus in company with her husband, who motored here for her.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Ross entertained a party of friends at their home on the Fourth of July, the company including Mr. and Mrs. Orel Hare and children, Mary Lou and Orel, Jr., of Westminster, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Miller of Hawthorne.

The slight restoration of these six was early accomplished. The other 11 which he has done had to be restored in whole or in part. The remaining work is the most serious and complicated.

Funds recently given to France by John D. Rockefeller Jr., will be used for the restoration.

NEWLY ELECTED OFFICERS OF LIONS CLUB INSTALLED LAST NIGHT AT ANNUAL MEETING

The Santa Ana Lions club was honored by the presence of the new district governor, Dr. William Wells, of Riverside, at its annual inaugural ball and banquet held last night at St. Ann's inn. The annual event also was featured by the largest attendance of members in the history of the local den, for virtually every member was in attendance.

District Governor Wells commented on the recent convention of Lions International at Miami, Florida, and pointed out that with the institution of dens in China, Mexico, Hawaii and Canada the organization truly was becoming international. Compliments were paid the Orange county clubs for their leadership in lionism in Southern California and the state. Speaking of the recent tragic death of William Strel, of San Francisco, who was killed in the north following his last official visit to a den as district governor, District Governor Wells said the death cast a shadow over the international convention, for Strel was recognized as one of the outstanding district governors of the year.

Installation of officers of the Santa Ana den was made by Max Ward, a past president of the Pasadena club. Ward made clever comments on the duties involved in the different offices as he pledged and declared duly elected each man and chosen for the various official positions. The officers were as follows:

President, Harold Yost; Rex Kennedy, second vice president; Burr Shafer, third vice president; E. M. Sundquist, secretary; Harry Hanson, treasurer; A. G. Tucker, lion tamer; Frank Purniton, tail twister, and Kenneth Morrison and Fred Merker directors.

C. S. Crookshank, retiring president, was accepted into the ranks of past presidents of the club by Past President Harold Wahlberg, who, at the same time, expressed appreciation of the club membership for the excellent service given the club by Crookshank during his year's administration, and presented to Crookshank, on behalf of the club, a jeweled past president's pin. Crookshank made a brief reply, in which he expressed his high appreciation of the loyalty members had shown him during his term of office.

Presidents of other service clubs of the city were special guests at the exercises, the group including W. C. Jerome, Rotary, and Mrs. Jerome; B. E. Morthland, Exchange, and Mrs. Morthland; Dr. W. A. Flood, Round Table, and Mrs. Flood; Mrs. Laura Murray, Business and Professional Women, and Mrs. Minnie Mayhill, vice president of the latter club.

The installation and entertainment program followed a chicken dinner served by the inn management. The special entertainment features were by R. A. Hamblin, of the Riofield Oil company, who entertained with mystic tricks, and by the clever artists comprising the Do Do Reid and Company troupe at the Yost Broadway.

Dancing to music furnished by the "Black Cats" concluded the evening.

Rubber is used in various forms in the production of fully 30,000 different articles.

Blackfoot Indian Can't Leave Jail Without Clothing

LOS ANGELES, July 8.—Because he hasn't a suit of clothes, Francis Salter, 27, a Blackfoot Indian, remains in the county jail here.

Though given liberty under 10 years' probation by Judge Carlos Hardy, Salter lingers behind the bars, victim of a wardrobe deficiency.

The suit belonging to a Hindu, which the "first American" was charged with stealing, has been returned to its owner and Salter is still unable to take the job procured for him by the public defender's office.

IRON MOULDER LOSES LIFE IN BATHING POOL

Jerome Catlett, 30, iron moulder of Los Angeles, and war veteran who has been vacationing at Newport Beach for the past six weeks is dead as a result of bathing in the slough at Thirty-third street at Newport Beach yesterday afternoon. Catlett is believed to have been a victim of a heart attack while in bathing.

That drowning is hardly possible is the statement made by Antar Deraga, captain of the Newport Beach life guards, because the slough is very shallow except in one spot where it is only nine feet deep.

An inquest was scheduled for this afternoon at the Smith and Tuthill funeral home. Funeral arrangements are to be announced later by the mother of the deceased, Mrs. Fred Sutterfield, of Los Angeles. No other near relatives survive.

City Of Munich Refuses To Fly Republican Flag

BERLIN, July 8.—The city fathers of Munich won't have anything to do with the federal republican flag. Only the state emblem of Bavaria and the city flag of Munich may be flown from its masts on festive occasions.

This unusual ban on the country's color came as the climax to a row between monarchists and socialists in the board of aldermen. A motion was up for discussion by which the city hall was to be adorned by four flags—the old monarchist, the new republican, the state and the city.

The socialists voted to strike out the monarchist colors. The majority supported them. In a huff, the monarchists then proposed to bar the republican colors also. There were enough staunch "state's rights" aldermen even among the republican middle to carry this motion also.

Newspapers in northern Germany now ask ironically whether Bavaria is still to be considered a part of Germany.

Girl Is Arrested For Using Pistol To Force Wedding

PARIS, July 8.—Accused of demanding the hand of a schoolmaster in marriage at the point of a revolver and shooting him when he refused, Albe Bianchi, a 22-year-old girl student, has been arrested at Aix. The instructor was wounded in the head. When he recovered consciousness he told the authorities the girl's name, Miss Bianchi, of Corsican origin, is now in prison awaiting trial.

Menu Change In France Is Urged

PARIS, July 7.—A newly organized society of gastronomic experts has undertaken to reduce French gourmandizing and spread the pleasures of the table more evenly throughout the day. The Frenchmen, whose "continental breakfast" is the envy and despair of the visiting Anglo-Saxons, generally eat nothing in the morning but a roll and a cup of coffee. By noon, say members of the new society, he is ravenously hungry, and eats too much. Then having no tea and waiting for a late dinner, he again eats too much at night.

Frederick, Great Meets Women Of Berlin's Society

BERLIN, July 8.—"Frederick the Great" personally greeted Mrs. Parker Gilbert, wife of the agent general for reparations; Frau von Hindenburg, daughter-in-law of the president; Mme. de Margerie, wife of the French ambassador; Frau Schacht, wife of the president of the Reichsbank, and scores of other society ladies recently.

The occasion was a benefit concert given by the Berlin Women's Aid association, which issued invitations to "An Hour of Music with Frederick the Great" at Charlottenburg Castle.

Otto Gebuehr, impersonator of Frederick in a number of historical movies, was dressed exactly as was the "Alte Fritz" in his day. Characters such as Barberina, the favorite dancer of Frederick, Professor Quantz, his flute teacher, and Amelia, his favorite sister, performed and the entourage surrounding him seemed as though taken from one of Adolf Menzel's famous paintings depicting life at the court of Frederick the Great.

Vaccination Cuts Danger Of Rabies

PARIS, July 8.—Vaccination of dogs has done much to stamp out rabies, it was agreed by scientists attending a recent rabies congress at the Pasteur Institute.

Japan, Italy and the United States, it was said, had vaccinated several hundred thousand dogs.

The results have shown that dogs so treated developed rabies in only a small percentage of the cases.

Billy Evans Says

Gene Delmont, test you have forgotten, was in his day one of the best bantams in the country. Later he drifted into the feather class. In most of his fights he gave away from five to 15 pounds.

The other day I bumped into him in Detroit. He was the same dapper chap and looked no different than he did 10 years ago. If anything, he seemed younger.

After getting out of the fight game, Delmont went into pictures, appearing in a number of films that called for a ring scene. Incidentally, he coached the stars, featured in such films, in the art of boxing.

For several years prior to the death of Rudolph Valentino, he kept the matinee idol in condition by boxing several rounds with him daily. Boxing was Valentino's favorite exercise for keeping in shape.

For a time he tried the fight referee stunt but soon retired because, as he put it, the fight fans seemed to think that as a referee he was a good fighter.

"I received more jeers because of one decision I made than for all the poor fighting I ever did during my career," is the way he explains his retirement as a referee.

FEARS FOR DEMPSEY

Delmont is a close personal friend of Jack Dempsey and no one will be pulling more for him in his coming bout with Sharkey than Gene, yet he has his doubts as to the former champion's chances of pulling a comeback.

When I asked him for his views on Tunney, Sharkey and Dempsey, the cagey veteran replied:

"Any fellow who has been in the ring knows that Jack is kidding himself when he says he is as good as ever. Nothing makes a fighter rustier than lack of work. For about four years Dempsey has done most of his training in evening clothes. The ball-room has been his gymnasium.

"While Jack, as a matter of fact, has taken good care of himself, for he never dissipated, social hours are not ideal training.

"Always a wide open fighter, therefore not hard to hit, Dempsey's greatest asset has been his stamina, the ability to wear down his opponent, in many cases out-gassed him.

"While I hate to contemplate it, for I will be pulling for Dempsey, I fear Sharkey will prove not only too good a boxer but too strong a fighter for him. He should knock him out."

All of which means that Delmont believes the next battle of the century for the heavyweight championship will be between Tunney and Sharkey.

STRONG FOR TUNNEY

When I told him that I thought Sharkey would beat both Dempsey and Tunney, he refused to agree with me.

I then related to him that I had never seen Tunney make one of his many good fights. I mentioned his two meetings with the late Harry Greb, in which the Pittsburgher swarmed all over the present champion.

I recalled a fight he had with Johnny Risko of Cleveland, perhaps eight months prior to winning the title. While Risko was decisively beaten by Tunney, Gene was not impressed. It was said he broke one of his hands early in the fight.

"Tunney is a much better fighter than the public or press credit him with being," said Delmont. "He is smart, always in perfect condition and packs a terrific punch at close quarters. Much of his effective work in the clinches gets away from most of the fight fans."

Sharkey to knock out Dempsey and Tunney to win a decision over Sharkey, is the sizeup of the smart old-timer, Gene Delmont.

BLAHOLDER GOING STRONG IN WESTERN

It begins to look like the St. Louis Browns made a grave mistake when they sent George Blaholder, husky Garden Grove pitcher, back to Tulsa in the Western League.

Blaholder is leading the Class A circuit moundmen, having lost only twice for the big show he certainly looks good enough to be pitching in the Pacific Coast league where his friends might see him work now and then.

FIRE-FIGHTERS DON HITTING CLOTHES, RAP BERGMAN FOR 18-5 WIN IN LUNAR CIRCUIT

Santa Ana's Firemen were out of the City Night league cellar today, having buried the Dunton Fords, 18 to 5, in a one-sided struggle for basement extrication honors at Lincoln park last evening, this tiff concluding the first half of the dusky baseball season here this summer. The Firemen broke into the scoring zone with seven runs in the fourth and made a field night of it thereafter.

"Tex" Bergman, the Dunton trajectory-disperser, was no puzzle to the Firemen who feasted on his "raise-ball" for a total of 15 safeties, every regular on the club getting at least one blow.

Al Huneke, the former Stanford university ball player, went the route for the Firemen and had enough to fool all of the Duntons except Bill Middlebrook, their hard-hitting receiver, who collected three singles out of five efforts. Huneke was a bit unsteady at the outset but never was in serious danger of losing his ball game and behind his flinging the Firemen resembled a real ball team.

A walk to Jiles, a single by Prather, an error by Fipps and several wild pitches gave the Duntons a two-run lead in the first chapter, an advantage that the Firemen quickly erased when they got to Bergman in the fourth.

Huneke started this savage attack with a home run and the fire-laddies batted clear around before Bergman could silence their big guns. Hits by Jack Blakeney, Gressett, Pea and Gibson figured prominently in this rally. Pea's drive being good for the circuit.

Dennis' triple and an error by Bowe gave the winners one more in the fifth and Shirley's home run, Huneke's double, an error by Prather, a pass to Dennis, a single by Fipps and an outfield miscue by Ryle all figured in another five-run outburst by the victors in the sixth.

The Firemen completed their evening's task with five more score in the eighth, Blakeney leading off with a triple. A homer by Norton and a double by Shirley helped produce results for John Luxembourg's henchmen in this inning.

JOHNSON REMOVAL STORIES HEARD AS MAGNATES GATHER

NEW YORK, July 8.—American league clubowners assembled here today for a hurriedly called special meeting and the usual reports that Ban Johnson was about to be removed from the presidency of the league were circulated.

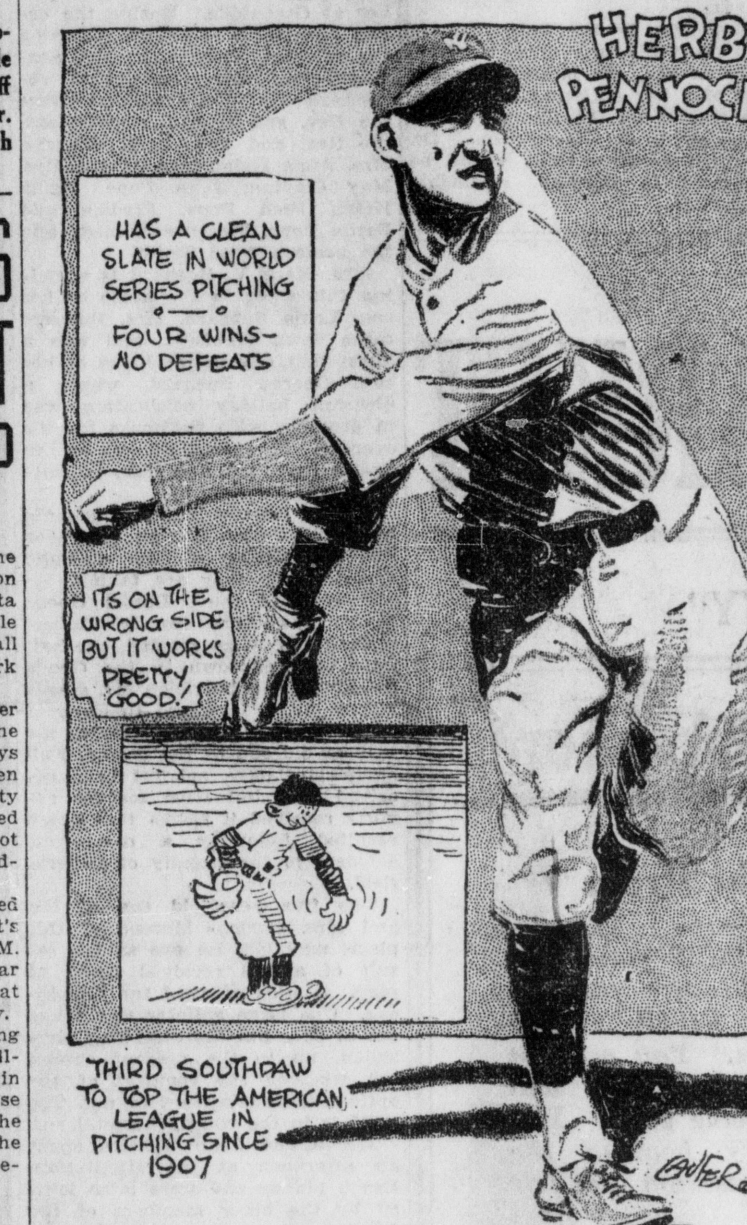

The meeting was called by Johnson, but many baseball men believe he had taken the action under pressure.

Colonel Jacob Ruppert, owner of the Yankees, said so far as he knew the meeting was called only to discuss minor changes in the league's constitution. The leading detractors of the sporting world immediately started to work on the theory that since Johnson's term extends until 1935, and he cannot be removed before then without a change in the constitution, Ruppert may have been casting intimations.

Mayor James J. Walker, of New York, and Senator George Wharton Pepper, of Pennsylvania, have been mentioned as possible successors to Johnson.

Baseball men were puzzled by the fact that the meeting was held here instead of in Chicago as usual. Johnson is stronger with western clubowners than with eastern.

ROUGH RIDERS BEAT SPURGEON TEAM, 25 TO 4

The most decisive victory yet scored in the City Summer Play-ground league was credited to the Roosevelt school's indoor baseball team today as a result of the 25 to 4 trouncing administered by Spurgeon players in a game played at the Julia C. Lathrop junior high school grounds yesterday.

By thus defeating the Spurgeon team, the Rough-Riders again were back as contenders for the title despite the 6 to 5 defeat they suffered with Lincoln in the first game of the schedule.

Robert Lackey pitched for the winning Roosevelt.

The feature of the game was the home run scored by David Webb, left shortstop, for the Roosevelt. During the first innings the score was kept fairly even but the last inning proved a rampage. The Roosevelt players made seven runs in the fourth inning and ten runs in the fifth and last frame.

Adams, De Hate Battle Tonight

LOS ANGELES, July 8.—Johnny Adams, of San Bernardino, and Paul De Hate, of Compton, argue out an intercity welterweight problem in the 10-round main event at Hollywood Legion stadium tonight.

With a projected match with Pete Latzo, former 147-pound champion as the boon for the winner, the bout promises to be one of the fastest seen here recently.

Vic Alexander To Campaign In East

LOS ANGELES, July 8.—Vic Alexander, negro light heavyweight and sparring partner of Jack Dempsey at Soper's ranch, leaves for Chicago and New York in the near future for a campaign in the 175-pound division. His latest victory was a decisive win over "Fresno" Benny Hill. Alexander is handled by "Windy" Winsor, one time Dempsey manager.

EXAMINATION BY PHYSICIAN REVEALS DEMPSEY TO BE IN FINE CONDITION PHYSICALLY

NEW YORK, July 8.—Jack Dempsey, former heavyweight champion, now in training for a fight with Jack Sharkey, which may lead him to a chance to regain his title, is "a perfectly healthy man, as normal physically as any man I ever have examined," Dr. Wilfred G. Fralick said today in a medical report on the former titleholder.

Dr. Fralick made a detailed examination of Dempsey, lasting several days. It revealed, his report said, no traces of any disease or malignant growths.

Unconfirmed rumors that Dempsey was suffering from cancer, other growths and reports apparently spontaneous that he was afflicted with various diseases, have circulated widely since his defeat by Gene Tunney.

May Change Odds

Dr. Fralick's report was expected to have an important effect on sentiment of fans toward Dempsey. Sharkey has been a 13 to 10 favorite in betting reported so far.

The physician emphasized, however, that this report was not to be taken as an expression of opinion "as to the likelihood of Mr. Dempsey either winning or losing the contest with Mr. Sharkey."

Dr. Fralick is a well known New York physician and surgeon with a wide practice among leading boxers. He was commissioned to examine Dempsey by Tex Rickard, who is promoting the Dempsey-Sharkey fight.

Free From Disease

Dempsey is free not only from disease but also from "indications of disease," Dr. Fralick said.

Pulse, blood pressure and nervous reaction all indicated good health, he added.

Dr. Fralick's report told how he went to the former champion's Saratoga Springs, N. Y., training camp, July 2, and told Dempsey and his manager, Leo P. Flynn, he wanted to make the examination without any reservations of any character whatever.

Dempsey welcomed the examination and gave the greatest cooperation, Dr. Fralick said.

BOBBY JONES READY FOR BRITISH OPEN

ST. ANDREWS, Scotland, July 8.—Bobby Jones, who started practice here today, will defend his British Open golf title against 206 challengers from a half dozen countries, in the championship tournament, which opens Monday.

The American entries, besides Jones, are Jim Barnes, Joe Kirkwood, Bill Mearns, Silas Newton of Sivanoy, Joshua Crane of Brookline, Mass., J. C. Anderson of the Winged Foot club, Charles Mayor of Pomonock, Tommy Armour, the new American Open champion; Alex Armour, Larry Nabholz and Young Edwin Hale of New York. Not more than a half dozen Americans, however, are expected to make good their entries and the tee off in the tournament.

OLD ATHLETIC RIVALS CLASH AT LOCAL PARK

Both Clubs Still in Fight For County Pennant and Much Depends on Result

Orange County Night League

W	L	Pct.
Anaheim	7	.875
Santa Ana	6	.857
Huntington Beach	5	.857
Fullerton	5	.825
Brea	4	.800
Orange	4	.727
Garden Grove	2	.722

1-Anaheim and Fullerton have game to play.
2-Orange and Fullerton have game to play.

Back in the running again with their opportunity for the Orange county night baseball crown now something better than a mere mathematical possibility, the Santa Ana All-Stars will endeavor to hurdle their next to hardest obstacle at Lincoln park tonight when they clash with "Shorty" Smith's Fullerton All-Stars who also still nurse some titular aspirations.

The going will begin at 8 o'clock and this first and last collision of the season here between the two perennial and honorable athletic rivals is expected to keep "Babe" Calland and his assistants at the French and Fifteenth street playhouse busy counting the thin dimes.

Anaheim Gets Test

While local fans are witnessing one of the biggest summer sport attractions, the long-leading Anaheim Colonists, humbled without warning by Garden Grove last week, will have an assignment of merit on their hands in disposing of Brea-La Habra in the back-yard of the latter aggregation.

 Brea-La Habra, boasting a stock of former professionals, is tough to beat on any old diamond as its 3 to 2 showing against Santa Ana last Friday demonstrated, and a lucky baseball followers here may be treated to another major surprise when they scan The Register tomorrow. |

Huntington Beach, the "dark horse" of the race, which is tied with Santa Ana now in its fine even if undervalued bid for the county flag, travels to Olive this evening and Garden Grove plays host to Orange.

McClelland to Pitch

McClelland probably will get the deceiving assignment although Smith has two other competent chuckers, Osborne and McElheny, on his staff.

John Wilcox, manager of the Santa Ana squad, was loath to announce his starting lineup because of the crippled condition of several of his first stringers, including Wayne Nelson and Bill Cole, but he said either Hal Jensen or Gene Hitt would do the pitching and that "Benny" Wilcox will catch. The infield will be composed of John Lutz at first base, Everett Lutz at second, "Pee-wee" Scott at third and Linton Hill at shortstop. Randolph Bell will be in left field. Bill Foot, in center and Horace Scott in right.

TRIO PLEADS GUILTY TO ASSAULT COUNTS

LOS ANGELES, July 8.—Mrs. Margaret Rowan, "end of the world prophesies," and her two aides of the Seventh Day Adventist church, yesterday pleaded guilty to charges of assault upon Dr. Bert E. Fuller.

The trio, Mrs. Rowan, Mary A. Wade and Dr. J. F. Balzer, were charged with conspiracy to commit murder and trial had been set for July 14, but they were allowed to plead guilty to the lesser charge.

Hearing on their application for probation was set for July 28. The attack upon Dr. Fuller, in a Lankershim auto camp, was the climax of a controversy within the church, it was testified at the preliminary hearing. Dr. Fuller was lured into the camp and attacked, passersby rescuing him.

Mrs. Rowan gained considerable notoriety two years ago, when she predicted the end of the world.

Asserted Auto Prison Sentence

LOS ANGELES, July 8.—Pat Goldican, the first person in California to be convicted of murder for an automobile death, yesterday was sentenced to serve 10 years to life in San Quentin for second degree murder by Superior Judge Elliott Craig.

Sentence was imposed after a motion for a new trial, based on the ground that the automobile killing of Mrs. Lottie Clayton, 62, last April 24, was not premeditated and that a verdict of manslaughter was the most severe that could apply, had been denied.

Counsel for Goldican immediately filed notice of appeal. The prosecution contended that Goldican was intoxicated at the time of the crash, raising the felony to second degree murder.

According to testimony, Goldican's machine careened into a safety zone, killing Mrs. Clayton and seriously injuring W. F. Majors and crashing into two other machines and a grocery store window.

Plan Of Radioing Medical Advice To Vessels Told

LOS ANGELES, July 8.—A plan whereby steamships, which do not carry physicians, may properly treat illness aboard through radio instructions from the Los Angeles Emergency hospital is outlined by Dr. E. G. Goodrich, chief surgeon of that hospital.

According to the plan, vessels would carry a standard medical kit, with each article numbered. When the necessity for medical aid arose officers on board would receive instructions for use of the medicine by numbers, wirelessly to the ship at sea.

The plan is the outgrowth of many requests for medical aid from ships at sea, the latest being the case of a boy suffering from stomach trouble on the tramp steamer Nara, south of San Pedro. Dr. Goodrich said the plan would be presented to leading steamship companies.

Woman Burned In Stove Explosion

SAN PEDRO, July 8.—Mrs. Olga Paulsen, 43, is in a serious condition in the San Pedro hospital, suffering from first and second degree burns received when a stove exploded in her home.

Mrs. Paulsen was cleaning with gasoline near a gas stove, which exploded throwing the flaming liquid over her head, hands and face.

She is the widow of Capt. Brendt Paulsen, who was killed recently during an accident while unloading his ship.

SHERIFF ASKED TO SEARCH FOR BOY

A boy riding a bicycle is the object today of a search being made by the sheriff's office.

The lad, Leo Gibson, 14, left the residence of his father at 441 West Doran street, Glendale, several days ago and has not been heard from since that time. Belief was expressed that the boy may be riding towards Santa Ana.

Young Gibson was described as having brown eyes, light hair and when last seen was wearing an old blue shirt, a grey cap and long corduroy trousers and brown shoes.

TALBERT

TALBERT, July 8.—Wednesday afternoon the women of the missionary societies of the Talbert and Greenville churches met at the J. H. Pope home at Talbert, where they were entertained by Miss Smith, one of the members.

Mrs. Bushard has as her guests here, Mr. and Mrs. L. Butler, of Santa Ana.

A card from the Louis Bushards from the Grand Canyon has been received telling of the splendid vacation trip they are taking.

Friends of the Daniel Goode family, who are former Talbert residents, having resided one-half mile west of town in the Goode tract, which subdivision Mr. Goode opened up, are grieved to learn of the death of Kenneth Goode, the 18-year-old son of the family. Full particulars have not yet been received here but from meager reports received it seems that death resulted following a motorcycle accident in the vicinity of Bakersfield.

The five year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Christo Moreno of this place, may lose an eye as the result of a fall received while at play. A stick of wood ran into his eye. One large splinter was taken out at once but the attending physician, up to the present cannot tell whether the removal of the optic will be necessary or not. The child is in the county hospital.

Jennie and John Folkers spent an afternoon at the Huntington Beach plunge and were later joined by the other members of the family.

Mr. and Mrs. John Courreges and family motored to Long Beach for a day this week.

Miss Cecelia McIntyre and Lois Dunlap, sister and niece of Mrs. Tom Giesler, are visitors in the Giesler home from San Francisco, having made the trip on the "Yale." Mr. and Mrs. Giesler met their guests at Wilmington. A pleasant day at Long Beach followed their arrival. The visitors will remain as house guests of Mr. and Mrs. Giesler for the coming two weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Landin called at the home of Mrs. Landin's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Lacabanne during the period they were camping at Newport Beach.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Lacabanne enjoyed the air-meet at Santa Ana recently.

Mrs. Clark Burley spent a day at Huntington Beach the first of the week.

The grading and building up of the Varana road, between the Talbert and Bolsa boulevards, is progressing rapidly while the road is barred to traffic. The entire distance is being prepared for oiling.

Mrs. Starkey and her daughter, Mrs. Fred Pope, left Tuesday evening for Oakland, called by the serious illness of a sister-in-law of Mrs. Starkey's, who died the day following their arrival. The children of Mrs. Pope, Freddie and Betty, are being cared for during their mother's absence by Miss J. Smith. Miss Smith is also entertaining this week her young niece, Florence Emmett, of Santa Ana.

The Rev. J. J. Woodson made a business trip to Redlands Tuesday. The Rev. and Mrs. J. J. Woodson received a card from their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Bishop Galloway, of Colton, written at Heldsburg, shortly after leaving Yosemite, telling of their intention of driving on over the Canadian line while on their vacation.

John Pope and George Bushard, local directors for the Newbert river protection district, inspected the river Thursday in company with Messrs. Leinhardt, Selvedge and Stewart, and the district's engineer, Mr. Hoy.

The monthly meeting of the Newbert protection district, and of the Talbert drainage district directors was held on Tuesday at the Santa Ana offices of the districts.

Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Callens and family were recent visitors in Huntington Beach.

PATRICK FLAYS 'DIPLOMA MILL' PLANE PILOTS

SAN DIEGO, July 8.—"Diploma mill" aviators, wild cat flying companies and airports in too many small towns will plague this air enthusiastic nation unless steps are taken immediately to prevent their springing up, according to Maj. Gen. Mason M. Patrick, chief of the U. S. army air service.

A warning for American business men to begin at once to curb such activities was sounded by General Patrick at a luncheon given in his honor at the Cuyamaca club by the local chamber of commerce.

"This country is now beginning to realize the importance of aviation," General Patrick said, "and the city that fails to recognize this importance will be left behind."

Community flying fields, intended to serve several towns or districts, were suggested by the air chief, rather than expensive airports which might be idle in small cities.

General Patrick urged that California, as well as other states in the union, enact laws governing inter-state flying similar to the federal laws regulating interstate flying, so as to keep persons not qualified from endangering the lives of other citizens with their planes.

"Flying is becoming safer," General Patrick declared, citing figures to prove his statement. "Within the next 10 years travel by air will be safer than any other method of transportation man employs."

General Patrick outlined his five-year air program and assured San Diego that the development of Rockwell field was one of the cardinal points in the plan.

Waved Hair Fad Of College Boys In Old England

LONDON, July 8.—The latest fashion among English college boys is to have their hair waved.

While old Cambridge and Oxford grads are inclined to sniff at the innovation as "foppish" the co-eds are divided in their opinions. Some frankly admire exquisitely waved hair which gives the young men the appearance of the traditional matinee idol, others scoff at them for being effeminate.

A Cambridge hairdresser reports that he has never known so many undergraduates to have their hair waved as now.

Plan To Protect Grape Growers Of Kern County Told

BAKERSFIELD, Calif., July 8.—A plan for the protection of Kern county fresh grape growers shipping their product to Los Angeles, through a new market service was outlined at a meeting here by Donald D. Conn, managing director of the California Vineyardist's association. Conn said daily Los Angeles truck shipment prices would be quoted to member growers with a view to creating a seller's market.

A detailed study of the southern markets for Kern county grape growers will be made next week by C. E. Shultz, of the U. S. department of commerce, San Francisco, Conn stated.

Kern county business men, service clubs and chambers of commerce have offered to assist in the movement to overcome marketing difficulties now besetting the fresh grape industry, it is understood.

RADIO COURT WILL BEGIN DUTIES SOON

WASHINGTON, July 8.—A radio "court of appeals" will start work here this month. Radio disputes between broadcasters over wave length and other interference after July 15 may be brought before the new federal radio commission for hearing and settlement.

Several complaints already are awaiting such action. Hearings probably will get under way about July 25, when members of the commission have returned from a survey of conditions over the country.

One of the first complaints to be heard will be that of C. C. Julian, Los Angeles, owner of Station KMTZ, who was "drowned out" of the air recently by the alleged interference of an unknown plant.

Hotel In London Installs Fountain For Canine Pets

LONDON, July 8.—Three little fountains, copies of the famous Benvenuto Cellini fountain at Florence, have been installed in the marble courtyard of the Savoy hotel to serve as drinking places for the pets of the guests. The fountains are low enough for the shortest Pekie to take a graceful drink. Instead of ordinary water, the dogs are given artesian well water in order that they may get the proper amount of chalk prescribed by doctors.

U. S. MERCHANT MARINE BONE OF CONTENTION

WASHINGTON, July 8.—Before the naval conference at Geneva is many days older, the problem of merchant marines is destined to become the principal bone of contention. It will be forced to the forefront of discussion by Great Britain's plan to reduce the caliber of guns permissible on auxiliary ships from eight to six inches. American naval authorities assert that what the British have mainly in mind is their possession of roughly 950,000 tons of merchant ships with a speed of 17-12 knots or more. The United States has only something like 180,000 tons of such vessels, while Japan's flag flies over only 10,500 tons of such craft.

Sounds Warning
William Howard Gardiner, who ranks as an American expert naval critic, declares that if the British view prevails at Geneva, "the ratio in merchant ships armable as cruisers—as between Great Britain, the United States and Japan—would be about 90-17-1. It would make the British over five times as strong in merchant cruisers as we would be and ninety times as strong as the Japanese."

The American delegates at Geneva are fully alive to the "joker" in the British proposal, which would automatically turn John Bull's huge merchant marine into an auxiliary navy. On their part the British delegates are busily engaged in explaining their proposal. "Why," Admiral Field, one of the British naval delegates, said to newspaper men in Geneva, "our merchant ships are only big egg shells. They'd be nothing but targets, with their guns inconveniently placed and with no fire controls, and which any real cruiser would quickly put out of business."

Like That Style
Admiral Jones, the principal American naval delegate, retorted: "Egg shells, eh? Well, give me their Majestic with thirty six-inch guns aboard, and I guarantee to sink any 7500-ton cruiser ever launched!"

Few Americans realize the enormous extent to which foreign nations—even Japan—have been steadily outstripping the United States in building and operating big, fast, modern ocean-going ships. Alfred H. Haag, head of the shipping courses given in the School of Foreign Service at Georgetown university, has just pointed out: "The post-war trend has been toward a demand for cargo liner service, and this service now constitutes 75 per cent of the world's tonnage. Our competitor nations were quick to recognize this fact and have either built or acquired modern tonnage with increased speeds and other advantages, and today are lagging far behind in this respect."

HOLES IN CHEESE SHOWN BY X-RAY

FRENCH LICK, Ind., July 7.—X-rays are opening America's eyes to new fields of invention and fortune, Dr. George L. Clark, founder of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology's industrial x-ray research laboratory declared before the American Society for Testing Materials convention.

"Industry's newest tool, the x-ray, until recently only known in hospital and academic laboratories, already is amazing its new employers," said Dr. Clark.

"Just recently x-rays showed that spiders and silk worms spin exactly the same kind of fiber, and immediately set American manufacturers to consider establishment of spider farms."

"Prohibition agents in California are using x-rays to detect liquor in suspected packages. The British army uses the x-ray to examine wood in its airplanes for cracks, worm holes and knots. Boston stores have x-ray devices showing customers how their feet fit into new shoes, and an Ohio dairy farm recently engaged to use x-rays to find size and location of holes in Swiss cheese.

"One golf ball maker has increased sales 200 per cent by advertising the fact that x-rays prove the symmetry of his golf ball centers."

Clark said that steel rail breakage, long a mystery, seems close to solution through x-ray observation.

EUROPEAN IS MADE TEMPLE GUARDIAN

SIMLA, July 8.—An event of unusual interest in Simla is the installation of a man of European descent as mahant (guardian) of the Hindu temple dedicated to the monkey god Hanuman, on Jakko hill, overlooking Simla.

His Hindu name is Bawa Mast Ram, but his original European name was Charles de Russet. He claims pure French descent and repudiates a statement sometimes made that one of his grandparents was barber to the last King of Oudh.

He was educated at Bishop Cotton school, Simla, and became a convert to Hinduism after his father's death and in his early teens. He underwent a severe novitiate at the Jakko Temple before he donned the saffron robe of a sanwasi and was admitted to

ITALY BUDGET BALANCED FOR YEAR 1927-28

MILAN, July 8.—Count Volpi, the minister of finance, speaking in the senate, stated that the country might be easy in its mind, as for 1927-28 the budget would again be balanced. As to the gold reserve, Count Volpi said that on June 30, 1926, there were 10.70 gold lire for every 100 paper lire. On Jan. 20, 1927, the gold reserve had risen to 16.30. Replying to a question, he said that in four years the number of state employees had decreased by 80,000.

As to the internal public debt, Count Volpi said it stood at 91,309 millions on June 30, 1926. After the conversion of the treasury bonds and the subscription of the Lector loan it stood on May 31, 1927, at 90,751 millions.

In addition, in the 1926-27 budget the expenses, 500 millions had been included for the reduction of the bank note circulation on state account and 350 millions represented ing repayments already made to the deposit and loan accounts.

Thus there had been an effective decrease of one and a half milliards in the public debt. The treasury was in a position to pay the July coupons, which amounted to about 1014 millions, with its own means. "This," said the minister, "is a notable fact when one considers that the greater English and American treasuries in order to pay their coupons are in the habit of issuing treasury bonds."

He did not foresee any necessity for imposing new taxes.

In reply to criticism by Senator Ricci, Count Volpi admitted that the government must proceed carefully with foreign loans. As to the discontent of the agrarians and the difficulties met with them as a consequence of the revaluation policy, Count Volpi did not deny their existence, but said there was no other better policy to follow. "The head of the government," he said, "carefully watches with all his ministers the development of this policy. We all know the difficulties that have been complained of, but they are absolutely unavoidable. The remedy is hard but certain of success, and one must pay for it at a dear price, trusting to the wisdom of the head of the government. There are difficulties but we will overcome them."

The budget was approved by the senate.

DISTRIBUTION WITHOUT WASTE

Homes Are Happier Because of Safeway

In the business of distributing foods—as the Safeway Man conducts it—we find a reward of more value than the profits we make. It lies in the knowledge that increased happiness has come to thousands of homes—because of Safeway. The greater purchasing power of the average family's food dollar—resulting from the pace we have set in lowering food costs—has released a large proportion of the family's income to be used for whatever purpose desired. To thousands, these extra "free dollars" have been like an unexpected increase in earning. From the knowledge of having thus truly served our fellow-men, we derive our greatest reward.

NEWS FROM ORANGE COUNTY TOWNS

NEWPORT BAY SPEED LAW IS HIT BY SMITH

NEWPORT BEACH, July 8.—Declaring the ordinance regulating the speed of boats on the bay as the most detrimental piece of legislation in the history of the city, Frank Smith, prominent marine hardware merchant and president of the Newport Harbor Chamber of Commerce, stated today that an election to determine the wishes of the majority of the residents may be called if the city trustees do not correct the statute.

Smith declared that it is his opinion that the general sentiment of property owners is against the low mileage speed now enforced on the bay. With the city expending $500,000 on jetty work calculated to add large boats to enter the harbor such legislation is defeating the purposes of the community, Smith said.

Corrective measures advocated by Smith include a revision of the ordinance to make the speed limit in the county channel from the pavilion to the bay entrance not less than 20 miles per hour. The other channels on the south side of the harbor between the pavilion and the Newport Harbor Yacht club wharves would remain under the restrictions now in force under Smith's plan.

That vessels of larger tonnage than speedboats or other of the smaller craft have considerable difficulty in operating their engines at 10 miles or six miles, the speed now in force, is Smith's assertion.

OIL EMPLOYEES TO ASK WORK CHANGES

BREA, July 8.—Employees of the Shell Oil company in this and other southern fields have been in conference during the past few days with regards to the main requests to be submitted at the annual conference between them and officials of the company at Santa Barbara on July 25.

Six days' work a week, two weeks' vacation with pay each year and various changes in the classifications of some of the workers are the principal subjects that will be brought up by them at the conference and complete copies of their requests have been prepared and forwarded to the Shell company and to the federal oil board, which body sits in at the conference. Discussions are entirely between the company and its employees, organized labor delegates not being allowed in the room unless they are Shell employees and then only as employees.

"Lost" Girl Found Asleep On Beach

NEWPORT BEACH, July 8.—Tired from a day of strenuous play on the beach, little Gladys Sherman, of Watts, fell asleep on the sand yesterday afternoon and remained in the land of dreams until midnight, when an officer of the local police found her.

The officer had been detailed to make the search for the girl by frantic parents. Her parents were notified and she was soon in her home.

Old Laguna Phones To Be Replaced

LAGUNA BEACH, July 8.—One of the relics in Laguna Beach is slated to go in the near future. The telephone company has announced that plans are being considered for doing away with the "coffee grinder" type of telephone that has caused so much vexation. With the new telephones, it is expected, will come 24-hour service. The hours now are from 7 to 11 daily. Until recently they were from 7 to 9 daily and from 7 to 6 on Sunday and holidays. The new telephones will ring automatically and only one party on a line will be rung at one time. The new plan will lift Laguna Beach out of the rural class. The toll business from Laguna Beach is the heaviest of any city of its size in California, the officials say.

$22,500 PAID FOR 2 LOTS AT LAGUNA BEACH

LAGUNA BEACH, July 8.—Woods Point, considered one of the choicest bits of land on the Laguna Beach coast line, has been sold to W. L. Hale, vice president of the First National bank, Fullerton, for a consideration said to be $22,500. The deal included lots 23 and 24, comprising that section where the home of the late H. E. Woods stood for so many years. Mr. Hale would not say what he intended to do with the property, but it is said that the present building would be removed. Cash was paid by the purchaser.

Peterson & Planalp, selling agents for the property, made the deal through the office of Roy W. Peacock. Mr. Hale has large property interests and has been negotiating for Laguna Beach land for some time. The vote favoring incorporation is said to have induced him to buy. The purchase is considered in real estate circles here to be a real buy.

Mrs. Clemm Woods, widow of the engineer, subdivided the property through Joe Skidmore recently. The tract consisted of four and a half acres. Considerable publicity was gained by a fight of Arch Beach property owners to prevent the changing of a street, claiming that access to the beach would be cut off. Mrs. Woods owned the beach front. It was claimed that without that beach the people of Arch Beach would have no strip of stand of their own to use. Mrs. Woods gave a deed to the beach and also deeded a 10-foot strip leading from the proposed street to the beach. That settled the matter and the supervisors accepted the map at a recent meeting.

An interesting phase of the deal is that two wealthy men desired it at the same time. The day one man arrived from the middle west to look over the point, it was sold to Mr. Hale.

Lewis H. Lasley, subdivider of the Three Arch Palisades tract, has announced that he will erect a home to cost at least $25,000 on the ocean front three miles below the city. There will be fourteen rooms, five baths, extra shower baths and a swimming pool. A mission wall capped with a tile roof will surround the place, which will be beautifully landscaped.

ANAHEIM, July 8.—Frits A. Yungbluth, prominent Anaheim clothier and pioneer resident of the city, was elected president of the Anaheim Chamber of Commerce to succeed H. E. W. Barnes at the annual meeting of the board of directors yesterday at the Elks club-house.

Leonard Evans was chosen vice president and George W. Reid, who has acted as secretary of the local chamber for the past four years, was re-elected.

Two new members of the board, S. W. Todd and Lotus H. Loudon, chosen at the recent elections and four who were re-elected, Leonard Evans, H. N. White, Dr. H. A. Johnston, and F. A. Yungbluth, were formally installed.

INCREASE IN ENROLLMENT AT ANAHEIM HIGH SCHOOL NEXT TERM IS INDICATED

ANAHEIM, July 8.—The Anaheim union high school is expected to open its 1927-28 term this fall with the largest enrollment of its history and is looking forward to graduation in June, 1928, the largest class in history, preliminary registration figures announced by Miss Myrtle Winters, registrar, revealed, this morning.

Registration so far completed reveals that 648 pupils will be on hand on the opening of the new term, 135 of these to be enrolled as seniors. Both of these figures are expected to be materially increased before the opening of school through the registration of pupils who may move to Anaheim during this interim, Miss Winters said.

The expected enrollment of 648 pupils represents an increase of 37 over the initial enrollment last year and an increase of 116 over the initial enrollment of the 1926-27 term. Initial enrollment for these two previous terms was 611 in 1926 and 522 in 1925.

Indications that next term's graduating class will greatly exceed in number this year's class is given in the fact that the number of seniors already enrolled shows an increase of 23 over this year's class, which had an initial enrollment of 112 and from which 109 pupils graduated. Next year's graduating class is expected to reach the 130 mark.

Enrollment figures for the 1926-27 term as announced by Miss Winters this morning are as follows: Seniors, 135; juniors, 108; sophomores, 163; freshmen, 238, and vocational, 44. Last year's enrollment was as follows: Seniors, 112; juniors, 141; sophomores, 132; freshmen, 267; special 6 post graduate 12 and vocational, 10.

BEACH TRAFFIC PLAN IS OPPOSED

NEWPORT BEACH, July 8.—Responding to suggestions that the beach be opened for parking purposes to accommodate the crowds who motor from the interior to this community each week-end, Louis Briggs, local realtor, and others today expressed their opposition to the idea.

The main objection is that citizens and property owners are not interested in making Newport Beach a year-round resort rather than a seasonal city, Briggs said. By making more room for the people who come to contribute a few dollars to the concessionaires but do not add anything of permanent worth to the city, the proponents of the plan would be defeating that purpose, Briggs declared.

Property values would drop to such an extent along the ocean front if such a plan were carried out that many moneyed residents would be driven away, according to Briggs.

BREA

BREA, July 8.—Names of the honor roll students of the Brea-Olinda union high school for the last quarter are as follows: Evelyn Hilgenfeld, James Zerbe, Nondys Smith, Ruth Livingston, Elizabeth Lipi, Pauline Hollowell, Grace Viets, Marsette Williams, Jessie Sachs, Ethel Kuenzli, Zella Hill, Hazel Viets, Olive Schryver, Harry Tremaine, Elizabeth Bell, Gwen Pendleton, Margaret Culp, Evelyn Morford and Ray Sachs.

All of these pupils received high marks for their work during the last quarter of the term, as they did for the most part during the year, but the highest honors go to Miss Hilgenfeld and James Zerbe, each of whom scored 17½ points.

A daughter, the first child in the home, was born to Mr. and Mrs. Randall Wallace Thursday of last week at the home of Mr. Wallace's sister, Mrs. Erwin Grant, of this city.

Friends of J. W. Elle,berger surprised him on the occasion of his birthday anniversary Saturday by arriving at the home about 5:30 o'clock with basket dinners and a handsome oak rocker as his own special gift. Beside the hostess and his family were present Mr. and Mrs. Ferguson, of Inglewood; Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Walls, of Compton; Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Countess, of Anaheim; Mr. and Mrs. John Pfeiffer and son, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Smalley and children and Mrs. Leta Kaylor and daughter, all of Brea. A birthday cake, baked by Mrs. Ellenberger, an accomplice in the surprise, was a feature of the dinner.

Harry Ray, of the Ray Shop for Men, left yesterday morning for Cincinnati, O., where he will be in attendance at the Elks convention next week. Mr. Ray will be away about three weeks and during that time will visit with many relatives and old friends throughout Ohio and New York.

An interesting feature of the evening was the installation of the new officers of Brea den for the coming year.

The regular weekly luncheon of the club is being held in the club rooms today, with the new officers in their stations.

Newport Liked By Navy Crews

NEWPORT BEACH, July 8.—Newport Beach tendered the officers and men of the two destroyers stationed here over July 4, a royal reception, commanders of the two vessels declared at the weekly meeting of the Exchange club in the Southern Seas club recently.

The disrespectful manner in which pier lessees are alleged to have acted toward navy men and visitors to the destroyers while they were on the piers has since the city government took immediate steps to remedy the situation, according to the officers.

While the men and officers were ashore in Balboa and Newport Beach, several dances were given in their honor, a stag dinner for the officers was given by the city trustees and a barbecue was provided for the men by the Newport Harbor Chamber of Commerce.

According to the officers, they conducted a straw vote among the men on ship board asking whether they preferred to stay at Newport Beach or return to San Diego, with the result that almost to a man, they declared for Newport Beach. This vote was taken after word had been received from naval authorities that the boats might stay several days longer if the men and officers so desired.

With these members of his family Mr. Culp enjoyed a trip to Niagara Falls. Mr. Culp also visited in Meadville, Penn., his old home town, and in Pittsburgh, where he was with his brother-in-law and nephew, Drs. Goodwin and Davidson, both of whom, with their families are well known in Brea, where they have frequently visited with the Culp family. ## H. B. OIL FIELD RETAINS LEAD IN SOUTHLAND

HUNTINGTON BEACH, July 8.—Indications that the local oil field is retaining its place as the leading field of Southern California is seen in the placing on production of two new wells, the spudding in of five more and the prospecting being done by the big companies for sites for several more wells.

The Lofton Oil company is becoming the most active developer of the eastern part of the town oil field, according to field reports. The Lofton has spudded in one well, has a rig up for another and has staked a location for a third.

The Lofton No. 1 well is located in the extreme eastern part of the town oil field on the grounds of the Huntington Inn. The well is almost in the business district of the city, and its success might convert the business center of Huntington Beach into an oil field.

The Standard Oil company has brought in its Bolsa No. 29 well on the property of the Bolsa Chica Gun club in the Huntington Beach field, and is getting nearly 900 barrels per day of 23.9 degrees gravity oil, according to officials of the company. Bottom of the well is at 2787 feet.

Three new wells have started drilling in the western part of the city during the past few days. One of these is the Standard Oil company's Pacific Electric No. 13, another is the Oil Field Consolidated Oil company's No. 1 well, and the third is Tom Bales well in the eastern part of the field.

Miller and Thompson are getting about 700 barrels per day out of their new well in the town oil field of West Huntington Beach, according to field reports. The well was completed at 3840 feet.

PLAN WIDENING OF STREET AT LAGUNA BEACH

LAGUNA BEACH, July 8.—Steps to beautify Forest avenue, the main approach to the community from Laguna canyon, will be taken at the next meeting of the board of trustees if action is taken by the board on a petition to be presented asking a five-foot set-back on each side of the street, the installation of ornamental lighting standards and the redesigning of the fronts of structures along the street.

The petition was signed by 75 per cent of those interested at a meeting of the Forest Avenue Improvement association last night. With the application to widen the street from its present 50 foot width to 60 feet, it is believed that the association will ask that buildings fronting on the street be set back a corresponding distance.

Two propositions for the redesigning of the structures on the street will be presented, it is said. The first concerns the building of all new buildings along a uniform pattern. The other design suggested would cause the remodeling of the fronts of every building to follow a pattern.

The petition will be the first of its kind to be presented to the board. G. W. Pryor was elected to be secretary-treasurer in place of A. B. Marshall, who recently moved from the city.

NEWPORT OCTOPUS BELIEVED DEAD

NEWPORT BEACH, July 8.—When Captain Ole Ellasen, veteran sea captain and octopus killer, goes down after the mate of the sea monster, believed to be in the wrecked "Mural," he will have no difficulty, with the denizen of the sea, although he may be unable to bring it out in its entirety, according to observers of the situation.

The stagnant water in the hold of the ship is believed to have caused the death of the octopus.

Capt. Ellasen left for a short vacation trip July 5 and has not returned.

Skating Rink At Newport Beach To Be Discontinued

NEWPORT BEACH, July 8.—Removal of the Newport Beach skating rink will take place soon, it was learned today following the closing of the concession by John Barlow, owner and operator.

Barlow was asked to discontinue the rink because of the noise made by the skaters and by the music box used to furnish rhythm for the skaters.

The rink will not be removed to another part of the city but will be taken out entirely, according to Barlow. It consists of a huge tent and a hardwood skating floor. It is located on Central avenue between the Standard Oil plant and the camp ground.

HAS NO POWER, BUT HE CLINGS TO HIS POMP

PHANAR, Turkey, July 8.—In this village a little, withered old man perpetuates the pomp and magnificence of the Christianity that from the fourth to the fifteenth centuries was one of the chief glories of the Byzantine empire.

Patriarch of the Orthodox church, the Pope of Eastern Christians, his holiness Vassilios III is shorn of the political powers the Ottoman Sultans permitted the patriarchs, but still holds full spiritual sway over his flock.

60 Pounds of Ornaments
Bent beneath his 75 years and 60 pounds of priceless historical robes magnificently embroidered in gold, Vassilios III conducts solemn mass for the several thousand Greeks who still reside in Constantinople.

At the Greek Easter, the date of which does not coincide with that of the Western church, a ceremony identical to that which until 1453 was celebrated yearly in the great Church of St. Sophia, takes place in the smaller but also magnificent Church of St. George on the Golden Horn. After solemn mass, during which the Gospel is read in ten languages to symbolize the universality of the church, the patriarch gives out painted Easter eggs—this year to the number of 80,000—with his own hands to the worshippers.

Painting of Historic Moment
A painting in the patriarch's reception salon commemorates the historic moment in May, 1453, when Sultan Mohammed the Conqueror, the new Moslem lord of the Christian Byzantine capital, gave to the patriarch of the time and to all patriarchs to come, the right of continued leadership over their flocks. The Conqueror, and succeeding Sultans even made large yearly money grants to the patriarchs, whose political influence was considerable until the day of the Turkish republic.

In the early nineteenth century, Sultan Mahmoud, called "The Crazy," ordered the execution of the Patriarch Gregory, accused of treacherous connivance in the Greek war of independence. The Greeks have barred the door in the patriarchal residence in front of which Gregory was hanged, draped it in black and fastened there his picture. On Easter

Chamberlin And Wright Sharing In German Favor

BERLIN, July 8.—Germany's after-dinner speakers have found a pair of historic characters suitable for evocation at German-American banquets. They are Orville Wright and Clarence Chamberlin. Wright demonstrated his "flying machine" on Tempelhof field in 1909, and Chamberlin landed there June 7, 1927, after his flight across the Atlantic.

MISSIONARIES WILL EMPLOY AIRPLANES

BERLIN, July 8.—The aeroplane is soon to become an instrument of missionary propaganda, according to plans adopted by the Catholic Missionary society.

The society recently held a convention here, in the course of which Father Schulte, the first priest to obtain an air pilot's license in Germany, pleaded for the extensive use of this fast means of communication in missionary work.

His plea met with enthusiastic response. Many of the delegates accompanied him to the Berlin aerodrome of the Luftthansa, where Father Schulte personally took the wheel and piloted his coreligionists on a flight over the city.

Then they returned to their convention hall and promptly voted to acquire a fleet of aeroplanes as rapidly as possible.

French Question Value Of Music As Aid To Films

PARIS, July 8.—Music and noise to heighten the realism of big American motion pictures are regarded in France as debatable.

Some critics praise the combination when made with taste and intelligence. Others say a picture is a picture and that it should not be twisted into something else.

The talking picture, produced experimentally, is considered as a novelty with a future dependent entirely upon perfection of synchronization.

crowds of Greeks bow before the door and murmur prayers of vengeance one hundred years after the fatal incident.

ALBANIA BUSY GETTING READY FOR UPRISINGS

TIRANA, Albania, July 8.—There is more military activity in this little capital of Albania than almost anywhere else in Europe, although the army numbers only 5000 men.

Trained by British and Italian missions ostensibly for possible use against rebellious tribesmen, the army bustles energetically about town.

Opinion here places prospective trouble at not more than six months distant, and there is considerable speculation as to how the militia and gendarmes will act, in view of recent ruthless suppression of an uprising in the north.

The country can muster about 20,000 men altogether, including gendarmes, reservists and militia. The active army is provided with Italian uniforms and rifles in pursuance of an agreement of Mussolini to equip 5000 men. The Italians also are fortifying the island of Saseno at the entrance to the Bay of Valona, which commands the Adriatic and is considered the key to the Balkans.

Officially the once thriving industry of banditry has gone bankrupt, as 4000 gendarmes are patrolling the country to make it a hazardous business. Occasionally "mistakes of identity" occur, however, and recently a Greek doctor was shot through the wrists by bandits, who dressed his wounds and took everything but his medicine kit.

At least two of seven bandits who killed two Americans, Robert Louis Coleman of San Francisco and William H. DeLong of New York, three years ago are still at large. Three were shot trying to escape, two hanged at Scutari, and the other two are said to be living near the scene of the crime.

Many of the gendarmes who are official enemies of the bandits are from the same tribes. This is also a reason for speculation as to the attitude they will take in the event of an uprising against President Zogu, who has been reported several times as planning to make himself king.

British Museum Owes Existence To Big Lottery

LONDON, July 8.—The British museum and Westminster bridge are among the English structures which owe their existence to lotteries.

The British museum was built through a 300,000 pound lottery of 3 pound tickets. Of the total amount raised, 200,000 pounds was distributed in prizes ranging from 10 to 10,000 pounds and the balance went into the building. The archbishop of Canterbury was one of the managers of the lottery and was paid 100 pounds for his trouble.

Westminster bridge was built through a 700,000 pounds lottery in 1736 and later in the same century a 224,000 pounds lottery helped the famous brothers Adam to finish their noted Adelphi Terrace on the banks of the Thames between the Savoy Hotel and Charing Cross.

EMPTY FLATS SHOW BETTER CONDITIONS

PARIS, July 8.—Police investigations show that there are at present 1500 empty flats in Paris. This shows an amelioration of housing conditions, which have been acute since the war.

Despite the number of vacant apartments the records show there is still a great shortage of houses for working class families. A large proportion of the empty flats are in de luxe apartment houses. Many of the apartments are held for sale and cannot be rented.

Clubs Are Hurting Saloon Patronage

LONDON, July 8.—The German working man lives to sit in a beer garden. A French working man takes his rest and refreshment in a cafe, but the English workman has his club.

In pre-war days the Englishman used to spend his evenings in a public house. Now the public houses are every year yielding more and more to the popularity of the club.

The British Working Men's club and Institute Union claims there are 2500 "poor men's clubs" in England, in which 7,500,000 pounds were spent in 1926.

NEWS FROM ORANGE AND SURROUNDING DISTRICT

SHIPMENT OF ORANGE SHOWS BIG INCREASE

ORANGE, July 8.—Orange shipments are much higher this year than last during the same period, according to figures given out by the Orange County Fruit exchange yesterday. The total so far this year reaches over $4,000,000, with bright prospects for the remainder of the crop. The exchange figure on July 1 being $4,114,313.14.

The 1927 shipments exceed the 1926 shipments by $1,997,796.42. The fact that the 1926 was the record crop makes this year's record even more impressive. The greater part of the fruit is yet on the trees or in the packing houses.

According to L. D. Palmer, fruit exchange manager, no high prices have been evident, but a good price has been the result of a steady market without any great fluctuations in the price. As this exchange handles a large per cent of the crop of the fruit the figures indicate the general trend of the Orange fruit business.

Palmer stated that about 200 cars a week had been shipped out of Orange since the packing houses have been in full swing and that they are holding up to this remarkable figure. No signs of slackening the pace is evident at this time.

- 6—To what use will the park be put?
- 7—Can all this be done with $65,000?
- 8—How is it expected to finance the remaining necessary expenditures?
- 9—If we cannot finish the park now, why start it at all?
- 10—What advantage is a local swimming pool?
- 11—Is there any other use to which the park could be put?
- 12—Do you think it is safe to risk the city trustees' judgment on the purchase?
- 13—Well, tell me about these bonds?
- 14—Tell me how much the bond issue will raise the taxes?
- 15—What will be the additional tax to the average taxpayer if the bonds carry?
- 16—Will any revenue be derived from the park?

It is believed by the members of the committee that the answers to the questions will enable the voter to vote wisely at the coming election.

FLOGGING RULE IN SCHOOLS OF LONDON SCORED

LONDON, July 8.—To whip or not to whip is no question for members of the departmental committee who have just finished an investigation into the proper treatment of juvenile offenders against the sensibilities of the elders. The report of the committee, published by the home office, takes a strong stand against corporal punishment for unruly youngsters.

Thus, the ancient sway of the "hickory stick," "switch" or "rod" is now being discarded. To the boy who is nervously unstable or mentally unbalanced the whipping may do more harm than good.

"We deprecate strongly any indiscriminate use of whipping. To the boy who is nervously unstable or mentally unbalanced the whipping may do more harm than good."

The committee admitted, however, that "we believe there are cases in which whipping is the most salutary method of dealing with the offender."

Harrassed parents who have great difficulty in making little Johnny or sweet faced Mary behave, will take great consolation in the following:

"Any change which would tend to weaken the responsibility of the parent for the care and control of his child would in our opinion be a grave mistake. Even had parents can often be awakened to a sense of their obligations."

The committee fully backed correctionary measures taken by parents to curb the misbehavior of their offspring.

BABY HELD HOSTAGE FOR MOTHERS' BILL

NEW YORK, July 8.—Her baby held hostage for a bill, Mrs. Natalie Phillips, 25 years old, had a writ of habeas corpus in proceedings to recover the child.

The mother told Supreme Court Justice Mulligan her $18 a week salary as a dress shop salesman was inadequate to permit her to pay $10 weekly to Mrs. Josephine Amella for board for her 3-year-old boy and she wanted him back to care for him as best she could.

Mrs. Amella refused to release the baby, the court was told, until the board bill was paid.

The writ orders Mrs. Amella to produce the child in court and show cause why he should not be returned to the mother.

HORSE DRAWN CABS READY FOR MUSEUM

PARIS, July 8.—The old horse-drawn fiacre of Paris is getting ready for the museum.

There are 51 of them left. Both drivers and horses show age and wear. In 1900, the year of the big exposition, there were 12,529 of them. Those left are one-horse coupes with room for three thin people on the seat and a narrow folding seat facing it.

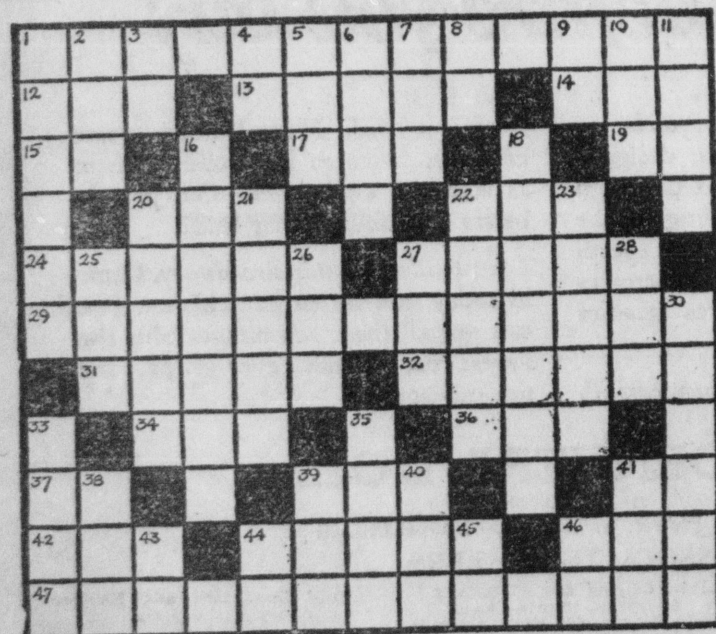

Once in a while some very aristocratic looking old lady or white-bearded gentleman of the old, old school ventures out in an obsolete carriage, but traffic jams and smiles tend to make their appearances constantly rarer.

Philologists Are Much Interested In London's Name

LONDON, July 8.—The name London is the subject of much discussion among British philologists. One theory is that it means "the fort by the lake," from the Welsh "llyn," lake, and "din," a fortified place. Another is that it is derived from the Norse word "Lund" (diminutive "Lunden"), a sacred grove.

There is a town in Yorkshire called Lund, after Lund in Scandinavia, at one time one of the chief commercial cities in Sweden. Its merchants traded with Britain in Roman times. It is thought that Lund in Yorkshire, Lund in Sweden, and Lunden, or London, were probably the sites of sacred groves, where the priests of the Bronze Age offered human sacrifices to the Sun-God.

AIMEE RAISCH AND ACTOR ARE ENGAGED

SAN FRANCISCO, July 8.—Engagement of Aimee Raish Hastings, society woman and dramatic student, to Richard Bennett, noted actor, was announced today by A. G. Raish, her brother.

Mrs. Hastings left last Thursday to meet Bennett in Chicago, he said.

Meeting of Bennett and Mrs. Hastings, former wife of Harry Coghlin Hastings, wealthy clubman and polo player, occurred in 1926, when Mrs. Hastings applied for a small part in "Creoles," in which the actor was appearing.

Mrs. Hastings' interlocutory divorce decree was signed one year ago yesterday and her marriage to Bennett may occur at any time, her brother said.

Death in the Wilds

SKETCHES BY BESSEY
SYNOPSIS BY BRAUCHER

After Stanley had found Livingstone he remained with him until his health improved. Then Livingstone went forward with his work in the Congo basin. At Illala he was stricken very ill. "Build me a hut to die in," he told his men, "I am very cold, put more grass on the hut."

By NEA, Through Special Permission of the Publishers of The Book of Knowledge, Copyright, 1923-26.

Next morning they found Livingstone kneeling in his hut. He had been dead for several hours.

Servants set out to carry his body back to Zanzibar, knowing his friends would wish to have him buried in England.

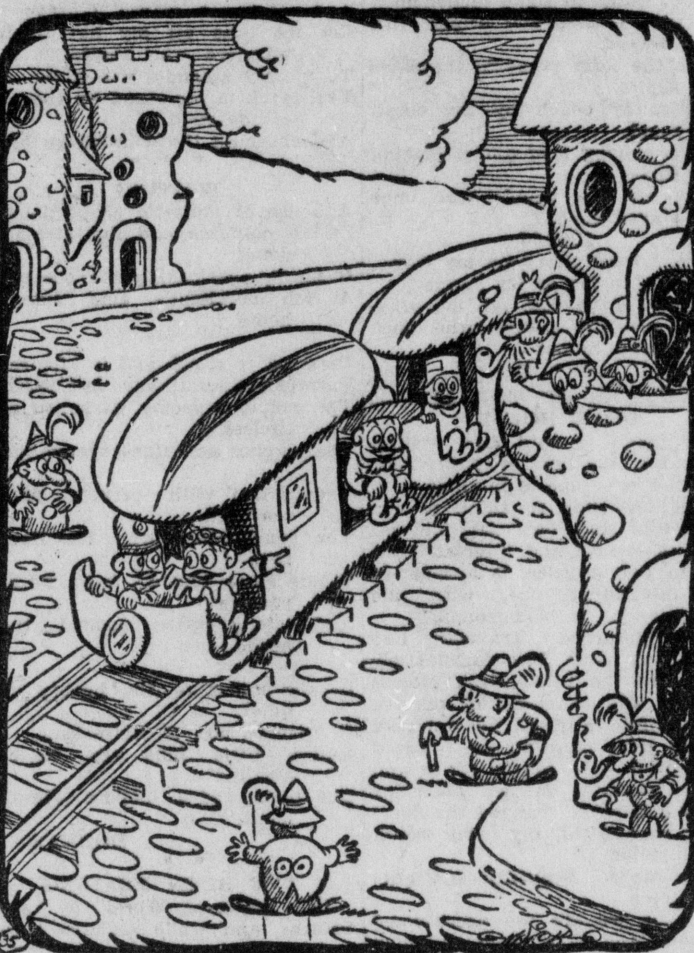

The savages thought that if the missionary's body passed their way it would bring evil. So Livingstone's followers made up another package, pretending the body was in it. This they buried, but the real body was in another bundle. From Zanzibar the body was taken to England and buried in Westminster Abbey.

THE TINYMITES

STORY BY HAL COCHRAN—PICTURES BY KNICK

(READ THE STORY, THEN COLOR THE PICTURE)

"I think," the little Princess said, "that all these horses be led back to the swinging merry-go-round. Who'll help me in this task?" "We all will," shouted Scouty, loud. "To help you we are very proud. But please don't let the horses kick us. That is all we ask."

The princess laughed. "Oh, don't you fret. They'll all behave themselves. You bet." And so the horses soon were put back where they'd been before. "And, now," the Princess told the bunch, "I think I have a happy hunch. Just follow me and I will show you what small trains are for."

She led them to a wee train track and said, "Now look behind your back." The Tinties did, and there they saw a very funny train. 'Twas just as small as it could be, and Clowny shouted, "Mercy me, to pull us all in that small thing I think would be in vain."

"Oh, no, it won't," the Princess cried. "Go right ahead and crawl inside. And then, when you are seated, pull the little lever down. The train will pull you all with care, and I will follow in the air. Then, in a very little time, we'll land in Tiny Town."

What fun it was to ride along as long as not a thing went wrong! The Tinties rattled on through space and traveled very far. And then the train came to a stop. "All out!" the princess said. "Just hop upon the ground and you'll be glad to find out where you are." And what a funny place it was! The Tinties laughed aloud because they saw a lot of little folks, who scamped all around. The Tinties met them. That was fine. The princess said, "They're friends of mine." And thus the Tinties felt at home in funny Tiny Town.

(The Tinties visit Up-Side-Down Town in the next story.)

LET TEMPERAMENT OF CHILD GUIDE YOU IN TRAINING HIM

EDITOR'S NOTE—Temperament's important bearing upon rearing children is described by Olive Roberts Barton in this article of her exclusive Register series on THE TEN COMMANDMENTS OF CHILD TRAINING.

Thou shalt study your child. No two children are alike in character or mental or nervous make-up, any more than they resemble each other in looks.

The saying that all men are born free and equal is not true. They may be born free but they are never born equal. That is demonstrated by the time Johnny is old enough to get his gang together.

Every little crowd has its leader. But that very leader, a bulwark of strong will and physical strength, may have to appeal to one of his lieutenants to go into the house beside the lot and courageously ask for the ball that has broken a window. He may be an executive but he may lack moral courage. Or he may be at the foot of his class in school, while the gang tail-end is at the top.

A wise parent will try to understand this temperamental difference in children and make adjustments. Why this difference? I suppose one cannot discount entirely the theory of heredity, at least to a certain extent. Also the mystery of the pre-natal period may account for it. Or it may be explained by biologists in a more scientific manner. I know not. They're just different, that's all. To add to the responsibility of the parent comes this admonition, "Study your child before you work out any rule of training."

Take books for instance. I've been asked so many times to recommend books for children. "What good book should Mrs. Smith buy to give to a girl of eight?" She might as well ask me what kind of a dress to buy for a lady of thirty.

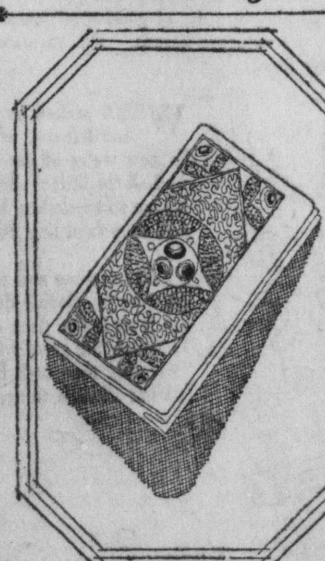

If the child is inclined to be over-sensitive or morbid or melancholy, or too serious, give her nothing but bright stories. Make her laugh! Do you know that illustrations have what they call their "sob lists"? Children who go in and ask for books that will make them cry? Librarians are now learning to keep such books out of the hands of these children. If a child is seemingly lacking in qualities of sympathy and kindness, read him heart interest stories of love and sacrifice. And so on.

I am a great believer in the good of talking. Parents don't talk to their children enough. Children are real people. Don't talk down to them. Talk with them. Discuss things. Suggest. "Word upon word and precept upon precept," says the Bible.

It cannot be improved upon.

BEAUTY CHATS

LITTLE VANITIES

I like encouraging vanity. The vain girl may be frowned upon by her stern and Puritanical relations but she's usually much prettier than these very relations who care nothing about their looks. A little vanity is a very good thing now and then.

Perhaps I should say "little vanities." Keeping one's nose powdered is a little vanity. But it is certainly nicer than letting it go shiny and dusty. There was a time, your more-than-middle-aged relatives may tell you when face powder was considered "fast," and as for rouge! It simply wasn't used. But that's no argument—if all women went with shiny noses no one would think it unbecoming—until one woman came along with a matt instead of a gloss surface to her skin, and all the rest of the women would look homely beside her.

Too much powder is bad, of course. The idea is never to make artificial Nature, but merely to bring out the best points and throw the worst ones into the background. If you carry little vanity cases of compact powder in your handbag, you need not fear using too much powder, for the compact sakes rubs off just enough and no more, and the flat little pads won't keep enough on to drop around and make your clothes dusty, as a swansdown puff will.

And here is an invaluable hint—buy powder one shade darker than you have been using, a shade or two darker than your skin. Then it won't show. Most face powder is too white, it gives an artificial finish, in most cases a dead finish, which is never really becoming.

J. O. S.—You do not need the services of a plastic surgeon, but you should have a dentist who can make you a set of teeth that will

A little powder won't hurt you fill out these hollows caused from losing your natural teeth.

Marjorie E. A.—Local treatment does not help much in ridding you of an oily scalp because the real trouble is usually in the system. A sluggish liver or poor elimination will be found to cause an oily scalp most times, and whatever is the cause will have to be corrected first. Very cold water as a last rinse will help some to check the tendency.

BIRD NESTS

What a wonder world it is For a little girl of five At the June time of the year, And so good to be alive, With the meadows to explore Seeking bird nests near and far. And a dad of forty-four Who can show her where they are!

Every evening after tea We go wandering about To the nests which we have found. Where the little birds are out. And we tiptoe hand in hand To a certain lovely crest Where delightedly we stand At a kilder's curious nest.

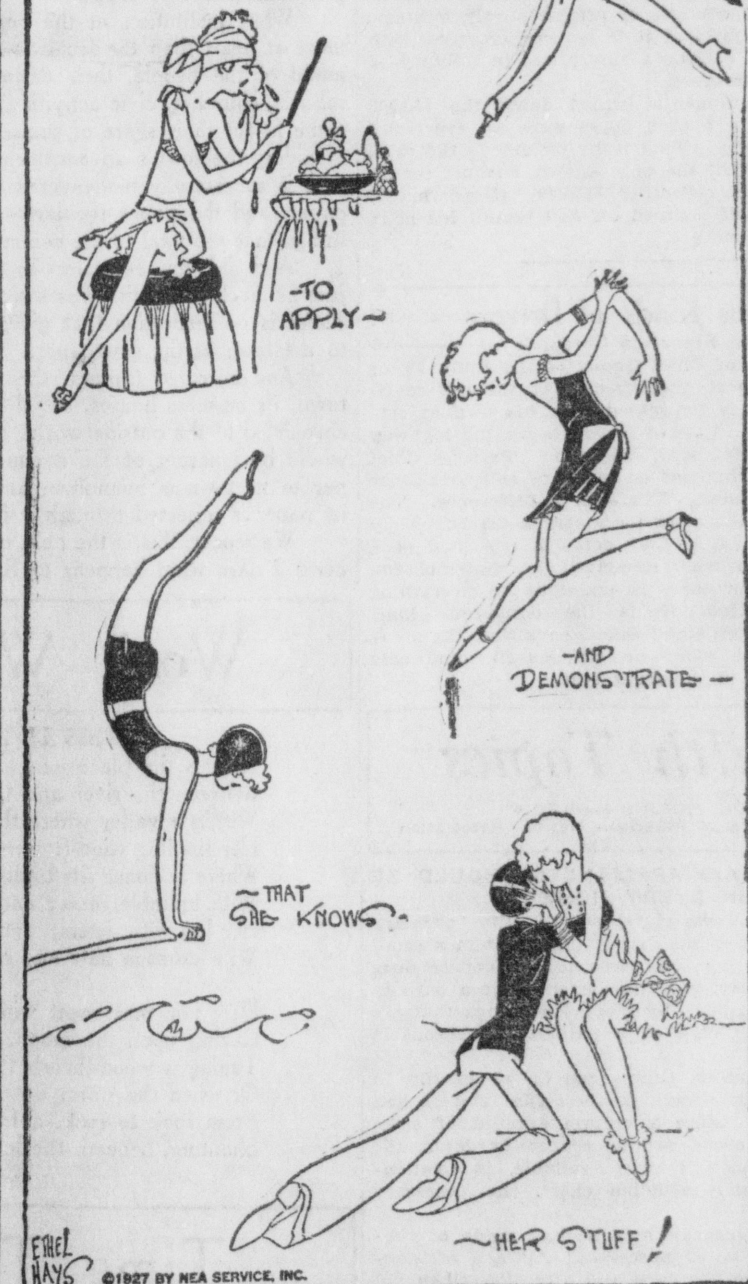

And a meadow-lark we know With five babies of her own! What a wonder world it is, And what miracles are shown! She can scarcely stay for tea— How she bolts her pudding through With so much she wants to see And so much she wants to do!

So we hurry out of doors And excitedly we race To the mother meadow lark And the kilder's secret place. And we talk of God Who made All the birds and trees and flowers And we whisper, half afraid: "What a wonder world is ours."

A "NICE HUSBAND"

A really "nice husband," according to an eastern judge, is one who makes his wife refuse alimony from her former spouse. In this state, a woman's re-marriage frees her former husband from paying actual alimony to her, but it does not free him from supporting his child or children. In this case, I'm not sure that the judge's definition of a "nice husband" holds water. I really don't see why husband No. 2 should support the children of husband number one. I would advise him, however, to decide this question before he marries and if unwilling to do it, refrain from marriage.

"SPARE MY CHILD"

The death house is no place for little girls to visit their parents. This is the decision of Henry Judd Gray and Mrs. Ruth Snyder who, awaiting death at Sing Sing for the murder of the latter's husband, have forbidden their eight and nine-year-old daughters to visit them. It's too bad that these zealous parents didn't think it equally unwise for little girls to have murders and murderers as parents.

"SAFETY NEXT" IS URGED

"Safety devices cost money and hitherto the pressure for mileage has been the greatest, but henceforth we need to worry more about making the roads we have safe and sane and think less of providing new highways when the old ones have never been provided with sufficient width or proper safety."

This declaration comes from the San Bernardino Sun. The enunciation is one that applies to conditions in Orange county as well as in San Bernardino county.

A few months ago, The Register published figures showing Orange county's death total through automobile accidents to be considerably less than San Bernardino county's. We asked a question then, and repeat it now, as to the reason for the better record here. We suggested the possibility that Orange county's widespread reputation for sending speeders to jail might have a good deal to do with the record in this county.

The Sun, in presenting the situation in San Bernardino county, says some things that might very well be taken to heart in this county. It gives us all something to think about, whether we live in San Bernardino, Orange, San Diego or some other county. The Sun editorial reads as follows:

During the first half of 1927 the San Francisco east bay section, including Oakland, had 18 deaths from motor accidents. During the same period there were 35 deaths in San Bernardino county in automobile accidents.

In view of the fact that there is far greater population in this east bay section than in San Bernardino county, and the automobile traffic is correspondingly greater, the comparison is somewhat startling.

But there are other figures of as great interest. During the corresponding period in 1926 there were 30 fatalities in automobile accidents in the east bay region. This number has been cut to 18 during the half year just completed. In San Bernardino county there were 39 deaths in motor accidents in 1926, but instead of a decrease there has been a startling increase. For the half year period the number was 35. Should fatal accidents continue at the same rate San Bernardino county would have 70 deaths for the year.

And what are we going to do about it? It has seemed as though there is no cure for carelessness at the wheels of automobiles. Traffic accidents occur weekly or more often and we have become so accustomed to the news of death on the highway that it attracts only passing interest. And that was the situation in Oakland. Instead of agreeing, however, that the situation was hopeless Oakland organized the east bay safety council. There can be no doubt but that the work of this body is playing a considerable part in the reduction of motor accidents—and a cut of from 30 deaths to 18 deaths is a record worthy of study.

San Bernardino county needs a safety council. There needs to be a careful consideration of the factors involved in every serious accident. At present there is little or no attention paid to the causes of accidents. There is no organized sentiment to force correction of dangerous conditions—and death traps dot the state and county highway system in San Bernardino county.

Apparently the northern section of California will not tolerate the omission of protection work on grades. Such mountain roads as the Cajon pass state highway, if along the Coast route between Los Angeles and San Francisco, would have no only safety fences at every curve or the entire distance, but concrete curbs as well. Soon the Cajon pass route is to be rebuilt by the state. Perhaps on its own motion the state highway commission plans these safety devices, but if there existed a safety council in San Bernardino county, composed of designated public officials and perhaps representatives of chambers of commerce, there would be an organization to promote sentiment that would demand greater attention to the providing of safety facilities.

NEW TROUBLE IN IRELAND

The belief, recently current in this country, that De Valera was no longer a force to be reckoned with in Ireland, proved to have been wrong. His party in the recent national election carried enough parliamentary districts to threaten the present Irish government, and even the existence of the Irish Republic as now constituted.

The Fianna Fail, headed by De Valera, is still a minority party. But there is no clear majority in the parliament, so a new ministry is expected.

What part De Valera and his uncompromising followers, demanding complete independence for Ireland, will take in the new government is not yet certain. They may continue to bar themselves from public office by refusing to take the oath of allegiance to the Irish Republic. In that case, remaining outside, there would be possibility of a new civil war.

The best thing for Ireland, apparently, would be the entrance of the De Valera group into the Irish parliament as a minority ready to criticize and assert its own principles, but co-operating in the general work of government. That is the way we do things in the United States, where De Valera got his political training.

FUTURE OF CALIFORNIA

Roger Ward Babson, one of the best known of the world's statisticians and economists, is by education and experience well equipped to judge of what the future has in store for California.

At a meeting of the most prominent business men of San Francisco, held one day this week, Mr. Babson predicted that California is destined to become the greatest state in the union.

"If statistics mean anything," said Mr. Babson, "the Pacific coast will be the most active and densely populated section of the United States in the future, for three distinct reasons.

"The first of these is because people like to live in California. Bank clearings, railroad earnings and foreign trade are mere thermometers of the growth of a city, not fundamental causes. Business is good or bad according to the desire of the people. The world is ruled by feelings and the desires of the people alone will make California.

"The second reason is the great agricultural advantage of the coast. The middle west is declining. As a nation increases its capital the demand for wheat and corn declines. Statistics show that as a nation waxes prosperous, it consumes more fruit, green vegetables, nuts—all the staple products of the Pacific coast. This trend is fundamental in your economic development.

"The third economic factor that will insure the development of this section is the fact that the Pacific ocean is destined to supplant the Atlantic in world commerce."

"Asia is opening its eyes and stretching preparatory to getting up," he continued. "Tremendous economic changes are going on in Japan, China and India. The Pacific shores will be the market place of the world in the next generation, rather than the Atlantic."

These Men Are Worth More

San Diego Union

Two young army lieutenants yesterday refused an offer of $10,000 for the use of their names in a newspaper feature article. The young men had just traversed the 2400-mile stretch between the California coast and the island of Oahu, piloting a giant army airplane on the longest all-water "hop" ever completed by plane. They were at once offered $10,000 for an exclusive signed article describing their flight—the article to be written by some $40-a-week newspaperman, the signing to be done by them. They refused. The article wanted was not theirs to sell. They are in the service of the United States government, sponsor of the flight, and the results of the flight are the government's.

The sum Lieutenants Maitland and Hegenberger refused yesterday was but one small part of the total they might have for the asking, were they willing now to doff the uniform and capitalize for themselves the result of their great exploit. It is pertinent now to ask what the government does to reward this loyalty to the service.

We must realize at once, of course, that the men of the service are not concerned with money rewards alone; and we must admit, too, that probably Lieutenants Maitland and Hegenberger would be the last to complain, now, that the money rewards are not great enough. Quite aside from that, however, the fact remains that adequate salaries and allowances must be held out by army and navy air services, if men to follow the tradition of Maitland, Hegenberger, Byrd, Rogers, Read, Kelly, Macready and the others are to be attracted to the service consistently in the years to come.

Maitland and Hegenberger showed something besides courage. They exhibited a high order of technical knowledge and skill. In their line of work they are qualified, and have been for years, as first-rate men. They should not be kept within a good bookkeeper's salary and compelled to take the rest of their pay in medals and citations. First-rate abilities are not won and retained by such a scheme. This applies not only to pilots and navigators, but to the best of the purely technical experts in the service, who—unknown to the public, and sharing none of the honors heaped upon the flying men—contribute so essentially to every successful air exploit. These men in the service are under a handicap which the free-lance or commercial aviators escape—the handicap of a traditional, routine, highly bureaucratic administration. "The army system" with its files and numbers and precedents may be necessary in the conduct of affairs purely military. It is not necessary, and it is not constructive, with reference to this country's enterprises in military or naval aviation progress.

The young lieutenants turned down the $10,000 offer as though a $10,000 purse were an every-day matter in the army. This is by no means the case. Hereafter, at least, the only known formula for an army lieutenant's collecting $10,000 "at a whack," was to get himself bumped off and permit his heirs to collect the insurance.

Various Kinds of Drivers

San Francisco Chronicle

The statement of Chief Snook of the State Motor Vehicles Division to the effect that the self-confident driver who is impressed with his own expertise is the chief cause of accidents on the highway must be interpreted with discretion. Perhaps Chief Snook was speaking not so much of self-confidence as of fat-headedness. There is a difference. The chap who is on the alert for emergencies but coolly ready to meet them if they come is one kind of a driver. The one who, immersed in contemplation of his own importance, is oblivious to everything else is another kind. He is the dangerous kind. And of course when Chief Snook says that the nervous driver is the safe one, he has in mind only the one who sits in the front seat.

THESE FIRST AID APPLIANCES SHOULD BE IN EVERY HOME

When serious illness develops in the ordinary home, particularly in the family that lives in a small apartment, the telephone wires to the corner drug store are kept busy, and messengers beat a path to the door bringing, piece by piece, the things that are necessary for the care of a patient in reasonable comfort.

As everyone knows, things purchased hastily in emergency are not always the best that can be had or the cheapest. Since a certain amount of sickness occurs in every family sooner or later, the foresighted person will have available, in relationship to the family medicine chest, the necessary apparatus.

Fountain syringes can now be had made of rubber or of metal or of porcelain. All are satisfactory. Rubber requires care and attention when in use or it will spring a leak or be found unworthy at the time when it is needed. A two-quart enamel or aluminum can is durable. These are now made so that they can be used for the double purpose of application of heat or for syringe.

A rubber sheet saves the household linen in times of illness. In emergency, a piece of table oil cloth about a yard long can be substituted. In the absence of both, several thicknesses of newspapers can be used temporarily.

A patient severely ill will require a utensil for body excretions, since carrying the patient to and from the bathroom is undesirable.

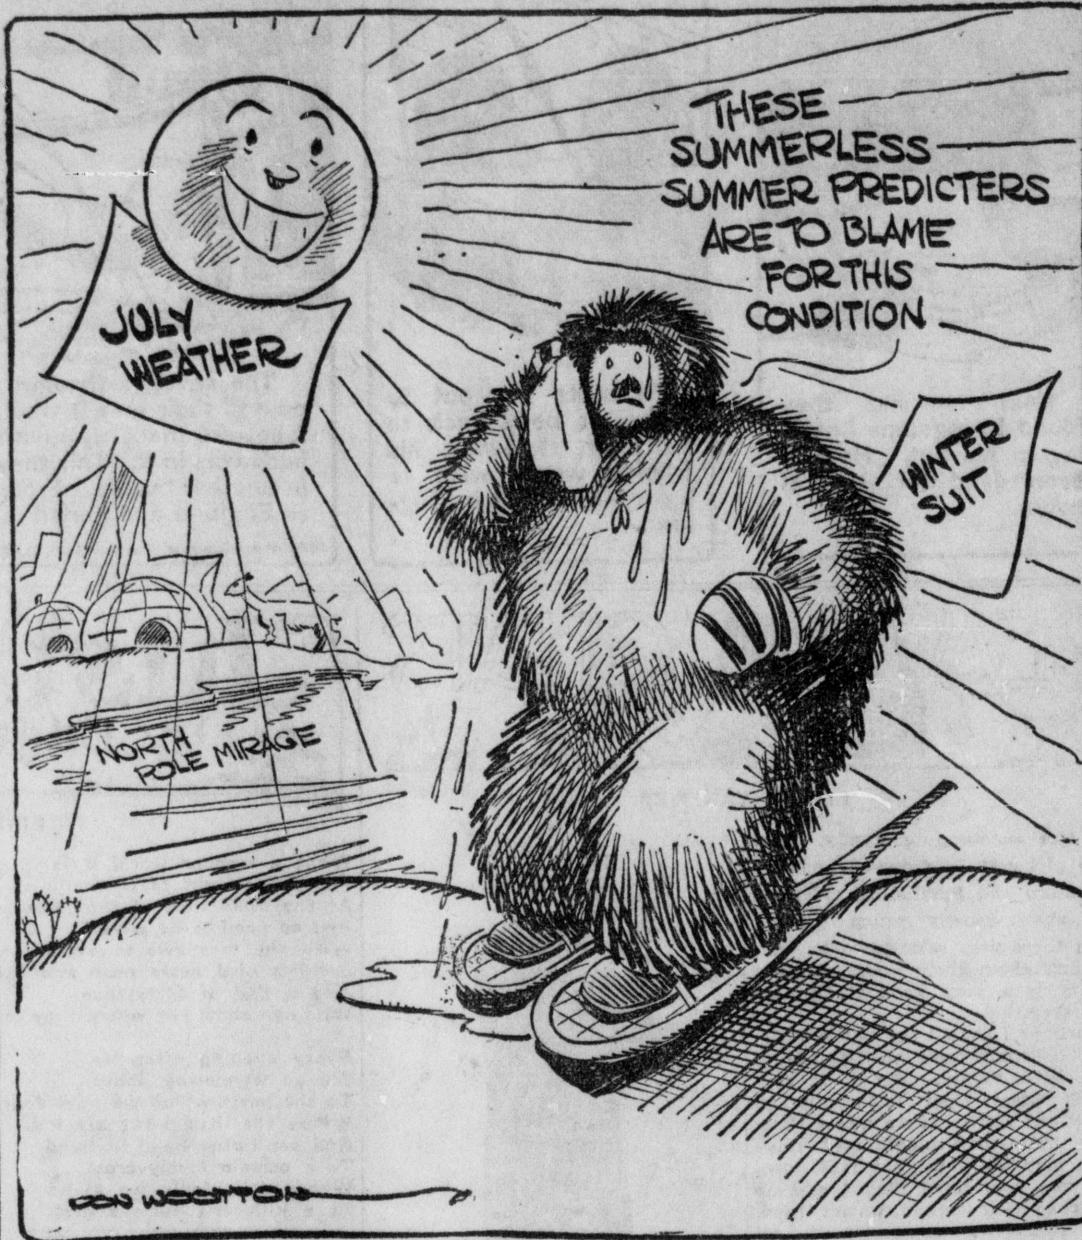

Bandages of varying width can now be bought in any drugstore and a supply of these kept in a cardboard box is as necessary as the medicine chest in any family where there are children.

If a patient requires fresh air without draught, a sheet or blanket may be draped over a clothes-horse to make a screen. This may be placed before a wide open window and be fully satisfactory for the purpose.

A good atomizer ought to be available among the apparatus, as the physician is likely to direct its use in connection with any disturbance of the nose or throat.

Ice bags for the throat are also useful. To apply heat one may have a hot water bottle of rubber. This should be emptied of air when filled with hot water. In covering it with a towel, care should be taken not to stick safety pins through it. The metal hot-water bottle is more enduring but not so comfortable. A brick heated in the oven and covered with a newspaper, a towel or a blanket is still a good source of heat.

Only Paper That Cares

Redlands Facts

Did you ever stop to think that this is the only paper in the whole wide world that cares a darn what happens to Redlands?

Now that is not an original thought. Others have used it elsewhere, but it is true of every local paper in all the country. The outside newspaper wants your patronage—your money. It comes in for what it can take out, but the real upbuilding, the progress of Redlands cuts no figure with it. It has its own community to boost, and if it is a good paper, it boosts first and all the time for the place in which it is published and which is its own principal source of support.

What institution in the community has the town's interests more at heart than the local newspaper? Each day it reflects the mood of the people, their desires, ambitions and activities. The schools, churches, civic activities, clubs, lodges and individuals each come in for their share of praise and commendation for their part in aiding the town's advancement. No enterprise of whatever nature is successfully maneuvered without the medium of the newspaper, and the paper regularly gives freely of its space to those things that are vital to the community's progress.

And did you ever stop to think that it costs the newspaper just as much to publish free articles as it does those that are paid? There is no institution that gives as freely of its time and money to the town as the newspaper.

And mirrored through the publication are the doings of the town, its business houses, social life and interests, which daily are chronicled to the outside world, which without this daily remainder would be ignorant of the community. The scope of the newspaper to its town is boundless, and the interest the people have in its paper is reflected through it in exact ratio to that interest.

We repeat, this is the only paper in the whole wide world that cares a darn what happens to Redlands.

THIS IS THE PLACE

Here is the place where Loveliness keeps house,
Between the river and the wooded hills,
Within a valley where the Springtime spills
Her firstling wind-flowers under blossoming boughs:
Where Summer sits braiding her warm, white brows
With bramble roses; and where Autumn fills
Her lap with asters; and old Winter frills
With crimson haw and hip his snowy blouse.

Here you may meet with Beauty. Here she sits
Gazing upon the moon, or all the day
Tuning a wood-thrush flute, remote, unseen:
Or when the storm is out, 'tis she who flits
From rock to rock, a form of flying spray,
Shouting, beneath the leaves tumultuous green.

Newport Beach fishermen prepared a petition asking that an ordinance protecting seals along the Orange county coast be declared null and void by the board of supervisors.

Assessment rolls showed that an oil well near Brea, belonging to the Birch Oil company, was the most valuable well in the world. Its assessed value totaled $1,000,000.

Harry Hale, S. W. McColluch, and C. C. Chapman of Placentia appeared before members of the county highway commission in order to urge the commission to improve the Anaheim-Olive road.

The report of Frank Hudson, Los Angeles architect, on the Grand Opera house, recommended that a number of changes be made in the building.

BALLAD OF THE ITCHING HEEL

Knights of the road, so light of heart,
Sunny faces all wreathed with smiles;
In small coupe or big car smart,
Lining the road for miles and miles.
Everybody on pleasure bent,
Over the low gray hills they roam;
To cover distance their sole intent—
Where are the people who once stayed home?

Baskets laden with picnic fare
To eat by a fallen woodland log
Or down at the shore line, sandy and bare,
With an ice cream cone and a big hot dog.
Hurry and flurry and let's-go-see
Every sight under heaven's dome,
Travel is easy, the roads are free
Where are the people who once stayed home?

No more preaching by bell and book,
No more nodding through sermoned hours,
Instead, away to some hidden nook
Cool with mosses and bright with flowers,
Where the lofty pines to the skies aspire,
Or a sandy beach by the ocean foam,
With a singing surf and a blazing fire—
Where are the people who once stayed home?

Prince, I must hurry on my way
To sultry Indies or icy Nome
But ere I leave you, tell me pray,
Where are the people who once stayed home?

CHRONICLES OF THE LITTLE GRAY HOUSE

"So much is said and written about the sky-line of New York City that everyone is familiar with it, but few stop to think of the sky-line of their own city, and realize its beauty and interest. Now ours in Los Angeles, is a wonderfully interesting one, with the mountains as a background."

The Returned Traveler had driven out from Los Angeles for a chat at the Little Gray House, and the idle conversation relative to sky-lines, aroused my interest.

So the next morning as I paced the routine path to the office and a busy desk, it dawned upon me that I had never realized the dominant feature of my own Santa Ana sky-line.

It is trees. Beautiful and gracious trees.

Perhaps we are too accustomed to them, and take them so much for granted that we fail to realize that they form the distinguishing charm of our city. As I said goodbye to my own little clump—including the Shaggy Plum Tree which will soon flaunt great rose tinted lanterns of fruit, I passed between twin rows of walnuts, and rounding the corner, saw, massed against the sky, the graceful branches and rounded tops of the eucalyptus, while at the inn, great palms tossed their royal heads on high. In the vista, like the purple haze of the desert, was a Jacaranda, offering its last lovely flowers, and at intervals the green scences of the magnolia, lifted their waxen candles in worship to the skies.

Until we reached the business district, every building seemed nestled in trees. It is really unbelievable beautiful if you can just rid yourself of its familiarity, and look at it with fresh eyes.

Santa Ana, the City of Trees.

A LUNCH ON THE BEACH

If Omar loved his "loaf of bread, His jug, his songs and 'thou' "—I wonder what he would have said if he were here right now, And could partake of such a lunch As you've just spread for me

E. B. C. brought the following contribution to the Quilt, hoping that others would appreciate it as she did.

Sportsmanship is remarkably illustrated in the following verses, written by two seventeen-year-old Chicago boys, Tom Luparello and M. Sisulak, after the basketball team on which they were playing lost a championship by the narrowest of margins:

By the Way Miss Margaret Livingston, county librarian, had the pleasure of hearing Lewis Browne lecture, and declares that he is as interesting a speaker as he is writer.

Dear Lord, in the battle that goes on through life,
I ask but a field that is fair,
A chance that is equal with all in the strife,
A courage to strive and to dare;
And if I should win, let it be by the code
With my faith and my honor held high;
And if I should lose, let me stand by the road,
And cheer as the winners go by.

And Lord, may my shouts be ungrudging and clear,
A tribute that comes from the heart
And let me not cherish a snarl or a sneer
Or play any sniveling part;
Let me say, "There they ride, on whom are laurels bestowed,
Since they played the game better than I."

Let me stand with a smile by the side of the road,
And cheer as the winners go by.

So grant me to conquer, if I conquer I can,
By proving my worth in the fray,
But teach me to lose like a regular man,
And not like a craven, I pray;

Let me take off my hat to the warriors who strode
To victory splendid and high,
Yea, teach me to stand by the side of the road,
And cheer as the winners go by.

WAITING

A house of majestic proportions,
Stately columns, and high gleaming dome,
It stood, overlooking the ocean,
A rich merchant's fine summer home.

Deserted it stood, and in silence,
Forsaken the stairways and halls,
The spacious rooms, darkened and lifeless,
The porches and vine-covered walls

The garden with pergola palm-thatched,
The box-borders prim, the flower beds
Where roses blushed down at shy pansies
And daisies peeped nodded their heads.

In the midst of the beauty and quiet
A desolate box of white sand
And a little blue toy tea-cup awaited
The touch of a child's dimpled hand.

I'VE BEEN READING

This "Believing World" by Lewis Browne, and while perhaps I was a few months late in reaching it (it was published in 1925 by the Macmillan company) I am heartily glad that at last I got to it. It was actually the most enthralling book I have read all year, despite the fact that it is what its title indicates, an informal history of the more compelling religious beliefs of the world.

Mr. Browne's book and chapter divisions are not the least interesting thing about the work. He starts in with "How It All Began" in which he goes back to the days antedating history, when fear drove those primitive men to invest inanimate objects with human and superhuman powers. From the dawn of the animistic stage he tells of the Celts, of the Druids and first prayers, and the first churches.

"How Religion Developed in the World" gives him opportunity to tell of the Celts, of the Druids and their worship, of ancient Babylon's strange priest-hoods, and of the varying gods and beliefs of the Egyptians, the Greeks and Romans.

Coming down through the ages, he tells how their gods were adapted to ever arising religions, and explains "What Happened—" in India, China, Persia, Israel, Europe and Arabia, tracing the beginning and growth of each important religion in turn.

No bias is shown—ever in his description of the rise of Christianity although in the latter, the utmost of reverence is evident. Confucianism, Taoism, Buddhism, Judaism—all are described enlighteningly and calmly, with due importance given those ancient scholars whose investigations and beliefs gave rise to new religious movements.
